

CARUTHERSVILLE
LYNCHERS SAFE
FROM PROSECUTION

Mayor, Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney Refuse to Act Against Mob That Stormed the Jail, Killed One Negro, Lashed Another and Burned a House.

BEST CITIZENS WERE PART OF THE CROWD

Sentiment Expressed Is That the Blacks "Got All That Was Coming to Them"—Chief Executive Says He Had Expected Trouble.

By Long Distance Telephone from a Post-Dispatch Staff Correspondent.

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 12.—

Some of the "best citizens" of this town, according to Prosecuting Attorney Gosson, were members of the mob which took two negroes from the town calaboose at 1:30 a. m. yesterday, beat them with buggy whips at Riverside baseball park and threw one of them, A. B. Richardson, a petty thief, over a 25-foot cliff into the Mississippi.

Officials of Caruthersville and of Pemiscot County have made no active effort to find the men responsible for Richardson's death. Gov. Hadley has been informed by the county authorities that no disorder now exists here.

The findings of Richardson's body in the river yesterday gave the town its first knowledge of the tragedy. The other negro, known as "High Pockets," whose arrest for annoying a white girl led to the mob's act, was released by the mob after being whipped, and has fled to Tennessee.

Also Burned House.

After the whipping and drowning, the mob, which numbered 50 men and youths, went to the negro district of Caruthersville, known as "The Larrup," and burned a large frame house, which has been the rendezvous of negro gamblers. The presence of these "easy-koney" negroes, as Mayor H. C. Garrett terms them, during the cotton-picking season, is an annual cause of trouble here.

The town turned out to the fire, and to one had any doubt as to its cause, but the acts of violence which preceded it did not become known until after daylight. Two white men were in the calaboose when the mob took the negroes out, but they were too drunk to know what was happening.

The coroner's verdict on Richardson's body was that a negro, name unknown, had died from an unknown cause. The verdict did not indicate that the body found in the river yesterday was that of the prisoner of the night before, though Coroner Crowe admits that there is no doubt as to the identity. He says to evidence as to the identity came officially before him.

Mayor Not a Detective.

"I am not a detective," said Mayor Garrett today to the Post-Dispatch staff correspondent, "unless a complaint is made by someone who can

Free Golf Links in Forest Park in Spring as Post-Dispatch Urged

Commissioner Davis and Comptroller Approve Plan for Recreation Ground North of the Art Museum.

Baseball, Tennis and Running Path on Tract Which Comprises Hundred Acres—Links at East End.

DWIGHT DAVIS, Park Commissioner of St. Louis.

Taussig Promises to Approve Whatever Appropriation May Be Necessary to Carry Out Project.

Room Sufficient So That Players of One Game Will Not Interfere With Those Engaged in Another.

THE Post-Dispatch's plan for municipal establishment of free golf links and public recreation grounds in Forest Park was officially endorsed by Park Commissioner Davis and Comptroller Taussig Thursday. Davis announced that early next spring he will introduce in the Municipal Assembly a bill calling for an appropriation to lay out free golf links, baseball diamonds, tennis courts and an athletic field on the plain north of the Art Museum.

This plan, comprising a tract of more than 100 acres, was the site of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. Twenty-five acres of the land at the east end of the tract will make a splendid nine-hole golf course, Davis says. On the remaining 75 acres there will be abundant room for baseball and tennis games and track and field sports.

Just how much money will have to be appropriated to make the grounds an ideal recreation field has not been decided, Davis says. Comptroller Taussig, though, has assured Davis that he will approve an appropriation for the purpose.

Golfers All to Themselves.

There will be no danger that persons on other parts of the field will be disturbed by the golf players. There will be room for all.

Park Commissioner Davis does not believe there will be any real opposition to laying out the golf links when it is understood that those who do not play the game will also be provided for. He believes the free baseball diamonds will be a feature which will appeal to the public.

Davis has conferred with officials of all the St. Louis golf clubs and they have assured him that public links on the former World's Fair site will be a splendid attraction for many admirers of the game who cannot now afford to play and will serve to increase the game's popularity.

The announcement had been made from Fond du Lac several days ago that the city had withdrawn its invitation to the President and would refuse to entertain him. The entire official correspondence by telegraph was given out here.

It begins with the following telegram sent by Mayor Frank J. Wolff of Fond du Lac to Secretary Hilles, on the presidential train at Cheyenne:

Program Revised.

We have made elaborate arrangements for the President's visit to Fond du Lac. We are advised that our time is to be divided with Oshkosh and other points in the Fox River Valley. We would like to know definitely the time allotted to Fond du Lac. It will require two and a half hours to carry out the program and arrangements.

To this the secretary to the President replied:

Telegram received. Railroads had given only 10 minutes to Appleton, 1 hour and 40 minutes net to Oshkosh and two and a half hours to Fond du Lac. This was an error. Appleton was to have had 1 hour and 10 minutes. It will be necessary to revise the program and deal fairly with Appleton.

This answer was sent from Mayor Wolff and the "chairman of all committees."

As soon as this action of the Mayor and the committees was made public, the Postmaster George Watson of Fond du Lac, wired to Mr. Hilles as follows:

Kindly give the people of Fond du Lac an opportunity to express their loyalty to the President in accordance with his plans and convenience. The people wish to greet him and to hear him.

Others Urge Visit.

F. M. Given, president of the Business Men's Association sent the following telegram to Secretary Hilles:

The citizens of Fond du Lac urge that there be no change in the program of the President regarding his visit to this city. Everything will be arranged for his comfort and pleasure.

The telegram from Mr. Hilles which brought about the final solution was addressed to Postmaster Watson and read:

Your telegram received. One difficulty that might be encountered in Fond du Lac, in consequence of telegram from the Mayor, is that of inadequate police protection to the crowds. If the city officials oppose a meeting there what police protection would be guaranteed as a safeguard against accident?

Yesterday came the following, signed by the Mayor of Fond du Lac and the chairman of all the committees:

The Mayor and citizens of Fond du Lac are anxious to entertain the President and his party on the 26th of October. The misunderstanding as to time assigned to Fond du Lac by the action in telegram cancelling visit by President. The city of Fond du Lac extends its good wishes to the President and desires to assure him that he will receive a hearty welcome when he arrives in our city. We stand ready to carry out the program in accordance with the time at our disposal.

In the following telegram from Secretary Hilles to Mayor Wolff, the final chapter was written:

The President will be pleased to comply with the wishes of the committee.

And Fond du Lac will entertain Mr. Taft for an hour and a half on the afternoon of Thursday, Oct. 12.

TAFT ASKS OREGON
AID IN 1912 RACE
FOR PRESIDENCY

Declares He Will Send Battleship Oregon Through Panama Canal First If He Has Power.

WILL VISIT FOND DU LAC

Mayor of City Regrets Hasty Action and Renews Invitation.

By Associated Press.

SALAS, Ore., Oct. 12.—President Taft, amid great applause promised the people of the Oregon capital today that the battleship Oregon would be the first vessel to pass through the Panama canal if he had the power at the time to arrange it. "And I hope the Government will help me keep the promise," he added, with a laugh.

He made the principal speech of his stay here at the court house to a throng that filled the square in front of it. Gov. West introduced Mr. Taft, welcoming him to "a State of popular law and popular government, a state where we have the recall, but where the judges are so upright and so just that we do not need it and they do not fear it."

Leaving here at 11 a. m., the President started on a 24-hour run down the coast to Sacramento, Cal., with only a few brief stops scheduled.

Fond du Lac Incident Closed.

The Fond du Lac incident, the most interesting connected with the recent travels of a president, was officially declared closed on board the Taft special when it stopped for several hours here today on the way to Sacramento and San Francisco.

The announcement had been made from Fond du Lac several days ago that the city had withdrawn its invitation to the President and would refuse to entertain him. The entire official correspondence by telegraph was given out here.

Attempts to Leap From Window in Courthouse After Decision.

IS MEMBER OF CHORUS

Husband in Habeas Corpus Action Declared She Could Not Care for Child.

By Associated Press.

Mrs. Blanche Abbott, member of the chorus of a theatrical company, attempted to leap from a second-story window at the courthouse Thursday morning, after Judge Muench, declaring that a woman on the stage could not provide a proper home for a child, gave her 17-month-old son, Robert, into the custody of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ella Abbott.

for dinner, and stayed there, while Wash did not appear until 7:30.

Wash said he ended his engagement when he began to notice that Martin and Mrs. Wash were becoming familiar, and were catching hold of hands as they passed each other about the house.

No Evidence Touching Conduct.

Justice Wash Morris was a ready and direct witness, replying promptly and in a clear voice to the questions put to her. Wash's lawyers did not ask her whether it was true, as reported at the time of the shooting, that Martin had misbehaved himself with her as well as with her mother, and they did not bring out testimony from her, as they had announced they would, that Martin had tried to get her to poison her father. She is to be recalled later to the stand.

After saying that she was 14 years old Dec. 14 last, the girl said she became acquainted with Martin at a "protracted" meeting she and her mother attended, six weeks before the shooting.

The three were together twice at the meeting, the girl testified, and then Martin went to work as clerk for her father, who never before had employed a clerk. She was not asked whether her mother got the position for Martin.

Boarder and Mrs. Wash Alone.

A week later Martin went to the Wash home to live, and the girl said he ate his meals with her mother and her. When Mrs. Wash was alone in the house, Wash went to the house to eat at noon.

Martin kept two revolvers in his room, the girl said, and then she went into testimony on which the Wash lawyers urged to build a self-defense plea. She said that 10 days before the killing, Martin told her he would like to get her father to draw a revolver on him, so that he would have an excuse for shooting Wash.

"He said he wanted to get father out of the way so he could get $3000 life insurance father had," the girl testified. "That and the store and the house would be about $10,000, he said."

"He promised me he would get me a horse and trap if he got father out of the way, and that he would buy an automobile for mother."

The girl said Martin persuaded her to get her father's revolver out of his pocket, and she took it from under his pillow, but returned it the following morning because he was angry. The shooting occurred the following day.

"Did your father know of the relations between Martin and Mrs. Wash?" she was asked.

"Yes."

"How do you know that?"

"I heard Father quarrel with her father and it out."

An effort was made here to get testimony from the girl that her father had offered to divorce her mother and give her $3000, but this was introduced on a technical objection, and the girl left the stand.

State Wednesday afternoon and in the first hour of the session Thursday, 20 witnesses, most of them Caruthersville men, were introduced to the state, were introduced to the Wash's behalf, and spoke. In high terms of his reputation for integrity and peacefulness. One of them was John Cundell, who arrived at Wash's hardware store for the shooting, and who said that Martin's right hand was at his hip pocket, under the body, as though he had tried to draw a revolver. There had been no testimony that a revolver was found in his pocket after he was killed.

Officer W. H. Ruffness.

Wash, when the revelation came of his wife's misconduct, planned to divorce her and let her marry Martin, according to witnesses Wednesday afternoon. Three men who rushed into Wash's hardware store in Fairview, where the shooting occurred, just after the shot was fired, testified that Wash said he offered to get a divorce so Martin could take Mrs. Wash and Isetta away with him, and that when Martin refused, saying "She's good enough for you," and turned to walk away, Wash killed him.

One of the witnesses was Charles Dorka, a nephew of Frank Crum, who was assisting in the prosecution. Mrs. Crum is a sister of the slain man. Dorka testified that Wash said he called Martin into the store to offer his wife to him. Wash's lawyers tried hard on cross-examination to break down this part of the witness' story, but they did not succeed. The prosecution hopes to establish a case of premeditated murder on it.

prove that a mistake was made in killing the negro, I will take no action. I do not favor arresting anyone on suspicion.

"If High Pockets" did what he is said to have done, he got what was coming to him. How the other negro came to be killed has not been established, and it may not have been done intentionally.

"We have trouble every year with the 'easy money' negroes, who come here from Tennessee, Arkansas and other parts of Missouri to prey on the earnings of the industrious negroes who are employed in picking cotton. The trouble has been increased this year by a dispute between the planters and the negroes over wages. Some time ago irresponsible persons posted notices about town, warning the visiting negroes to get out. I appointed several deputy marshals at that time to catch the persons who posted the notices and to prevent trouble."

He said that a property owner not to rent any houses to incoming negroes. "I told them I feared there might be a fire, and I also feared that a fire would be attended by a general cutting of fire hose, which would cost the town $100 for new hose. Some heeded the warning, others did not."

Sheriff Franklin repeated the mayor's remark about not being a "nigger," but I will serve any war that that is placed in my hands," he said.

DR. HYDE CHARGES MARSHAL ASKED A BRIBE FOR JURY

Accused Physician Said Hung Jury Was Offered for $1500 and Acquittal for $3000.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 12.—An affidavit signed by Dr. B. Clarke Hyde, in which he charges that Deputy County Marshal Harry C. Hoffman told him that for $1500 he could hang the jury in the first Hyde trial and for $3000 could guarantee acquittal, was introduced at the hearing of Hyde's application for elisors here today.

In the affidavit Hyde said the offer was made May 6, 1910, while Hoffman was conducting him from the jail to the courtroom. Hoffman, Hyde said, told him to say nothing to his attorneys about it, but to leave the matter to him.

The physician, however, did tell his attorneys all about it and they at the time, he said, advised him to keep the offer quiet.

"If complaint is made to me, backed up by proof, I will issue warrants, conduct prosecutions and do all I can to send the offenders to the penitentiary. But I am told that some of the best citizens of Caruthersville were in this mob, and no one seems inclined to furnish any information that could be officially acted on. Everyone seems to feel that the negroes got what was coming to them."

The Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney were called up last night by George Hadley, who asked them if any help was needed in restoring order and told him there was no disorder and no occasion for troops.

Town Marshal Scott and his deputies declared that they knew nothing of the mob's visit to the calaboose. Scott was asleep, his home a short distance away by a side door, with a key taken from the police magistrate's office.

"I am being caused by the fact that members of the mob knew exactly where to find the key, and were able to get into the magistrate's office and then into the jail without arousing any one."

Race feeling here has been noticeable since a fight, two weeks ago, between two white barbers and a negro with whom one of them collided on a sidewalk. The white men beat the negro, but one of them, Lee Fleming, was stabbed so seriously that it was feared for a time he would not recover.

The negro was taken to Kennett, Dunklin County, for safekeeping, and a body of 20 men started from here the next night for Kennett, taking possession of a local passenger train. The sheriff at Kennett was warned of their approach, and hid the negro in a cornfield.

Accused White Girl.

Last Tuesday night Miss Josie Folk and Bessie Gee, salesgirl in a local store, were followed on their way home, about 8 p. m., by the negro known as "High Pockets." After Miss Folk had entered her home, the negro is said to have accosted Miss Gee. She fled into Farmer McClanahan's home, and McClanahan ran out and caught "High Pockets," who was taken to the calaboose.

An hour later the negro Richardson was put in the calaboose on a charge of stealing a shirt from a local dry goods store. He was known as a petty thief, and spent half his time in jail.

Richardson's arrest attracted no attention, but the arrest of "High Pockets" was noised about town, and his alleged offense caused great indignation. Shortly after midnight the mob formed, and without arousing the town, entered the calaboose by the side door.

The mob wanted "High Pockets," but its attention was attracted to the other negro by an insolent remark which he is said to have made to one of its members. It was at once decided to take him along, too, and soon the silent procession was on its way to the baseball park, a quarter of a mile north of the business district.

The men carried heavy whips, and it is generally believed that its only purpose was to give the negroes a thorough "trimming." That the whips were used vigorously, "High Pockets" testified when covered with bruises and welts, he appeared a few hours later at the home of Gil Kennen, his former employer, before his flight across the river.

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that the reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of applicants do not even suspect that they have the disease.

He states that judging from his own experience and reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has probably been more successful in relieving and curing these diseases than any remedy known. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise all readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on hand at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—fifty-cents and one-dollar.

However, if you wish first to test its wonderful merits, we will send you a bottle of Swamp-Root for a sample. Please send this to the St. Louis Daily Post-Dispatch.

Suits and Overcoats for Fall Wear

In a Most Pleasing Assortment

If every mother was as familiar as we with the superiority of the garments we offer, over those carried else where, we do not believe we would have a suit or overcoat left in stock by the time the store closed Friday afternoon.

Our prices are not high, but decidedly reasonable and for every dollar spent here you receive the maximum amount of quality. Our Dress and School Suits, Overcoats and Reefers range in size from 2 1/2 to 18 years. They are made by the very best workmen on lines that, while novel, are never extreme, each garment being the personification of good taste and excellence.

Every garment is of strictly all-wool material and fast in color, while the trimmings are high grade in every particular.

AERO-TAXI RIDE AT KINLOCH MEET AT $5 A MINUTE

Aeroplane Passenger Service
Starts at Field Saturday at Big Cut in Rates.

ST. LOUISANS WANT TO FLY

Women and Children May Go
Up When Chauffeur Beatty
Pilots Mechanical Bird.

Jump into the aero-taxi. Nobody is barred and the fare is only $5 a minute. Aeroplane passenger service will be inaugurated at Kinloch Field next Saturday with a flat rate of $5 a ride for each passenger.

It is announced that this cut rate has been made because of the large number of St. Louisans who are eager to fly.

Heretofore $100 has been the lowest price charged for carrying passengers in aeroplanes.

At the Kinloch meet, Beatty said he wanted to pay full rates. On the air line there are no half tickets and no concessions for children not occupying seats.

At noon Lewis announced that a St. Louis woman had telephoned the Aero Club headquarters and said she wanted to be the first person to ride with Beatty Saturday afternoon, and for this privilege she was willing to pay an additional $25. She refused to give her name, Lewis said, but told him that she would appear on the grounds wearing a purple dress and a mask. Lewis says there were no theatrical press agents around when he received the message. Wooster Lambert, brother of Albert Bond Lambert, president of the Aero Club, was the first man to apply for a sky-ride with Beatty.

The usual length of a flight with a passenger is five minutes. The course will be a circular one about Kinloch Field. Flights with passengers will be made Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Nine-Day Flying Meet.

The nine-day Kinloch meet promises to be one of the best ever held in St. Louis. Officials of the Aero Club say, a novel event Thursday was Dr. Henry W. Walden's monoplane, now at Mineola, L. I. This machine is the only successful one of the single-wing type ever made in America. Dr. Walden will arrive with the machine Saturday.

Howard W. Gill, P. O. Parnelle and Clifford J. Turpin, the pick of the Wright operators, are expected to reach St. Louis Friday to take part in the meet. Turpin last Monday flew from Springfield, Ill., to Peoria without a stop.

Brookings and Beatty, independent aviators, will compete with the Wright flyers. Kearney, Benoit and Cooper, with Curtiss machines, and Reayburn, with his 10-horsepower monoplane, will take part in the meet.

Olive, Hodiamont, Page and Weston cars will run through to Kinloch Field for a 10-cent fare Saturday and Sunday.

AEROPLANE KILLS JOPLIN SPECTATOR

Man Crosses in Path of Machine on the Ground and Is Hit.

JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 12.—In attempting to cross the path of a biplane during a trial flight here, James Kinney, 50 years old, a miner, was killed instantly. The machine broke Kinney's neck.

The biplane was built by Joplin High School boys and was being piloted by Derold Robinson of St. Louis, who had been brought here to give demonstrations with it. Robinson took his seat before a crowd of several hundred persons gathered at the Osark Interstate Exposition and ran the machine for about one hundred yards, preparatory to leaving the ground. Kinney ran in front of it and was hit.

RODGERS RESTING AT KANSAS CITY

Coast-to-Coast Aviator Has Machine Overhauled—Fort Worth Next Stage.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 12.—Aviator C. P. Rodgers rested today at the aviation field at Overland Park, nine miles west of this city, while his mechanics gave his machine an overhauling.

It was the aviator's plan to start southwest tomorrow and head for Fort Worth, Tex. A short exhibition flight at the aviation field is on his program for today.

ADVANCE AGAINST TURKS IN TRIPOLI INTERIOR ORDERED

General Caneva Gives Word for Tripoli Expedition to Move Immediately.

GREAT ARMY IS LANDED

Nineteen Transports Bring Second Military Division—Warships Shell Country.

TRIPOLI, Oct. 12.—Gen. Caneva, commander-in-chief of the Italian expedition, has ordered an immediate advance against the positions occupied by the Turks in the interior of Tripoli.

TRIPOLI, Oct. 12.—Nineteen transports arrived in the harbor this morning. They brought the second part of the Italian army expeditionary corps, which is to occupy Tripoli.

The landing of the troops, artillery, ammunition and horses began immediately. The faster transports bearing the first part of the expeditionary forces arrived yesterday.

They were escorted by warships and accompanied by the hospital ship Regina d'Italia. The disembarkation of the troops began immediately, the greatest enthusiasm prevailing.

The batteries of the fleet all through the night shelled the surrounding country, which was swept by the searchlights.

Young Turks Are Planning for Military Dictatorship.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 12.—A military dictatorship is planned by the Young Turks. Headquarters of the guiding body of the party, the Committee of Union and Progress, will be moved from Salonica, Macedonia, to Constantinople, and a coup d'etat is intended when Pasha's Cabinet falls, as it is expected to do soon.

Parliament will be dissolved if the scheme works out and the committee will proceed to expel all Italians from the Ottoman empire, confiscate their property and call the whole people to arms to wage war with the greatest energy.

Foreign ambassadors are alarmed at the recruiting of volunteers in Constantinople, which has already begun and is likely to cause anti-Christian disturbances. Consequently the Government has forbidden enlistment.

France Believes Reports of Armistice Are Premature.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The French Foreign Office had no confirmation today of the published statement that Italy and Turkey were on the point of arranging an armistice. On the contrary, the official regarded the report as premature. Neither has indicated to France the conditions under which an offer of mediation could be made.

Washington Believes That Peace Is Near in Turkey-Italy War.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—State Department officials expressed the view today that, with the German Emperor working on his ally, the King of Italy, and the Czar of Russia in a favorable position to influence the Porte, peace between Italy and Turkey is not far off, and that an armistice at least can be arranged as soon as Turkey is prepared to admit that Italy is in technical possession of Tripoli.

FREAK ORDINANCES PROPOSED IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—A list of ordinances and resolutions which have been presented for consideration by members of the New York Board of Aldermen in the last year contains, among others, the following unusual subjects:

An ordinance to prohibit the use of the word "damn" on the stage; a resolution to attach vacuum cleaners to automobiles to remove dust from the city streets; an ordinance providing for the equipment of all taxicabs with awnings to protect the chauffeurs; an ordinance to protect the chauffeurs; an ordinance compelling anyone displaying any flag or piece of bunting other than the national colors to pay a license of $5; an ordinance to impound speeding automobiles until the case against them is finished.

Shooting Follows Farmers' Row.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 12.—Everett Bowman of Livingston County was shot twice and probably fatally injured and Albert Parks, a neighbor, is in jail at Pontiac, to await the outcome of his injuries. The shooting is said to have followed a quarrel occasioned by Parks' cattle trespassing on Bowman's farm.

Face Peeling Easy—Blonde or Brunette

"The blonde's complexion fades early, because her skin is extraordinarily thin and fine," says Mme. Lina Cavallieri, perhaps the most famous living beauty. "The brunettes, as a rule, is the reverse. The skin is thicker and has a tendency to an oily appearance."

For either the faded blonde's skin or the brunettes' oily or sallow complexion, the best remedy is ordinary mercuric oxide. Used daily, this will give one an entirely new complexion within about a week's time. The wax gradually absorbs the worn-out surface skin, with all its defects, a little each day, without affecting the delicate under-skin in the least. The latter will have the exquisitely beautiful glow of youth—indeed, one may readily lose ten or fifteen years from her age, so far as appearance goes, by a course of this simple treatment. Mercuric oxide, is applied like cold cream.—ADV.

Auto Owner and Wife Killed.
COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 12.—When on their way to their home at London, O., Harry Armstrong and wife were instantly killed at West Jefferson, when their automobile was struck and wrecked by a Pennsylvania train.

CHURCH NAP BROKEN OFF

Husband Hits Wife, Who Sticks Him With Pin; Both in Jail.

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., Oct. 12.—Because Mrs. John Goodpaster with a hatpin thrust aroused her husband from a nap during a sermon at the Holiness Church, he struck her. The service was disrupted, and both Mrs. Goodpaster and her husband were fined $5 and costs in the Mayor's court. Neither could pay and both went to jail.

Seat sale for Montgomery and Stone opened this morning at 9 o'clock.

Parish Festival in New Buildings.
The parishioners of the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows will continue the parish festival in the new building, 700 West 10th street, Thursday night. A dinner room outfit will be given as attendance prize. The articles at the various booths range from a baby rattle to furniture and a room-size rug. Nearly 800 persons have attended the festival.

STEPHENSON MEN KEPT NO COUNT OF MONEY THEY SPENT

Senator Pomerene Holds Principal Liability for Actions of His Supporters.

U. S. ATTORNEY ON STAND

Says He Received and Paid Out $1800, but He Cannot Itemize His Expenditures.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 12.—That money was distributed by Senator Isaac Stephenson during his campaign for nomination at the primaries in 1908, and that sums as great as $1800, were paid out without any accounting asked, was testimony given today by George H. Gordon, United States Attorney for the Western District of Wisconsin, before the senatorial investigating committee.

Before he held any public office, but while counsel for the Chicago & North-western Railroad at La Crosse, Gordon said he was paid $1800 out of the $107,793 Stephenson campaign fund to be used in the Senator's interest.

Distributed Money to Others. He in turn distributed the money to others, from whom he asked no accounting. He could not remember how much he had paid to individuals, but he kept no money for himself.

The committee endeavored to show that the Wisconsin law required a rendering of a detailed account of expenses by not only the candidate, but his workers as well.

Senator Pomerene took the position that it would be evasion to presume that only the candidate had to account, because then he would have merely to say he turned his funds over to a manager and no further details would be necessary.

Senator Pomerene, the chairman, gave it as his opinion that the validity of a United States Senator's election could not be affected by the question whether or not he had filed an account of expenses for his nomination, but the subject had to be reached in the present investigation because of the charges against Senator Stephenson.

Gordon, when asked how much it would cost to properly organize the 2200 precincts in Wisconsin, said about $100 for each precinct. This would make the cost to a candidate for the State $220,000, more than twice as much as Senator Stephenson spent. In addition there would be the cost of advertising, Gordon said.

Dr. E. E. Rydman of Ashland, Wis., testified he learned of Stephenson's candidacy at the Republican National Convention at Chicago in 1908. He agreed to work for him and subsequently spent $1800 of the Stephenson funds.

Lolita Armour Once Lame So Nearly Well She Is a Dancing Pupil

J. OGDEN ARMOUR
DAUGHTER
LOLITA

Rich Chicagoan and daughter on whom he spent a fortune to bring her health.

Her Case the One That Added to the Fame of Dr. Lorenz of Vienna.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Miss Lolita Armour, who has entered the Chicago Latin School, is taking lessons from a dancing master.

That the daughter of the rich Armour family should learn dancing ordinarily would not excite passing comment, but that this particular girl should be, at the age of 17, able to waltz and schottische as other girls is remarkable, for it announces the ultimate success of a series of extraordinary surgical experiments.

That she might be able to move about easily, thousands of dollars have been spent and the newest discoveries in medical science have been tested. She is not the only beneficiary. Hundreds of children of the poor have been cured of diseases, before thought incurable, simply because a rich man demanded that they be cured for his daughter's sake.

Lolita Armour was born in August, 1896. At the time she weighed but three pounds and she was not strong enough to begin a fight for life. Until that time physicians never hoped to save babies born under those conditions.

Two years before, however, Alexander Llon, a Frenchman, had invented the baby incubator. It hadn't had a fair trial as yet, but in the hope it might save the Armour child, it was employed. Lolita Armour thrived in this nurse of steel and glass and in a few months the incubator was abandoned and the child was apparently in good health.

It was discovered then that something was wrong with her nether limbs. When they put her on her feet, she would scream with pain. Her legs appeared helpless.

The X-ray, then a comparatively new thing in science, was employed. It was discovered that the bones of the child's thighs lacked an inch or more each of the normal length. Dr. John Riddle, an eminent surgeon, took hold of the case. He performed an operation and put the legs in a cast, but the operation failed.

About that time, Dr. Adolf Lorenz, a professor in the University of Vienna, was the most talked of man in medical science. He had made many experiments in orthopedic surgery—bloodless surgery, as it is called—and his two books were widely read and discussed. One of these fell into the hands of Lolita Armour's mother.

Dr. Lorenz called in. Dr. Lorenz and his assistant, Dr. Friedrich Muller, were summoned to Chicago, from Vienna. The great scientist examined Lolita Armour and said he believed he could effect a cure. He performed one of his operations Oct. 15, 1902, which lasted two hours. The little girl's body was set in a plaster cast and the scientist went back to Vienna. It is said he received $30,000 for his services.

The process of healing was so slow that two years later, Dr. Riddle read a paper saying it had failed. Mrs. Armour immediately sent Lolita to Vienna, where she became a patient in Dr. Lorenz's private hospital. June 27, 1904, the girl was brought back to America, cured except for a slight limp which is disappearing gradually and is scarcely noticeable today as Miss Lolita moves about the floor with her dancing teacher. Since the first operation Dr. Lorenz has performed many of them for charity's sake, and has effected some remarkable cures. Other surgeons have been converted to his theories until there are many successful practitioners of orthopedic surgery and many children afflicted with congenital bone diseases, are being cured.

Lolita Armour is the daughter of J. Ogden Armour and granddaughter of the late Philip D. Armour, founder of the millionaire Armour family.

DEEPER CHANNEL TO BE BOOMED AT WATERWAYS MEET

Convention Opens in Chicago and Will Pay Especial Attention to Kavanaugh's Plan.

ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT

"The Bigger the Boat the Lower the Rate" Is the Keynote of His Speech.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—E. S. Conway, first vice-president of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway Association, welcomed the delegates to the sixth annual convention of the association, which opened here today. That the association will work for a deep waterway all the way instead of being satisfied with 14 feet through the valley was indicated in the speech of President William K. Kavanaugh.

"Big delegations were on hand from St. Louis, Peoria, Springfield, Ottawa and other State points. In all, there were nearly 1000 delegates, representing 33 states."

Fear that the meeting might be taken advantage of by political factions was expressed by President Kavanaugh, who said:

"This is not a political convention to deliberate on a great commercial necessity and any business man, lawyer or doctor or any man of reputation in his community, if he can be duly accredited, when he gets into this convention will be entitled to a vote on the resolutions."

The delegation from Joliet made a spectacular entrance to the convention. Headed by a brass band they marched into the auditorium, 300 strong. Congressman Copley, Prince and Koenigsmeyer and a large number of State legislators appeared as delegates.

Two factions are present, one urging that immediate action be taken by Illinois and the other advising delay until Federal aid is obtained. Gov. Charles S. Deneen is at the head of immediate action faction.

Kavanaugh's Address.

President Kavanaugh said in part: "Now, during the five years of our work, we have learned to rely on ourselves for knowledge, and on our representatives to carry out the demand of the people. We, now, in this association, and others, discuss transportation as a whole, and we are amazed at the bigness of the subject. We find that we pay annually some three billion dollars for transportation (mostly three quarters freightage), of which some seven-eighths goes to railroads on which the cost of traffic is three to ten times that by water!"

"We are learning in a large way to balance our railway bills with other business—as we do so we see that the tendency is to prevent proper production of foodstuffs and other commodities, and paralyzing rather than promoting that commerce which is the life of prosperity."

As pointed out a year ago, our annual railway payments are equivalent to a tax on the improved lands of the country amounting to $5 or $6 per acre, or a personal tax of about $150 per family. What country can sustain such a burden? Already production has been cut down over millions of acres by prohibitive freight charges, which increases the normal food consumers have to carry; and everywhere producers receive too little and consumers pay too much for the necessities of life.

"We have learned to compare our transportation conditions with those of other countries, and have proved the unfairness of figures cited against us by our own representatives; it is true that our railway ton-mile rate is less than half that of Germany, but it is also true that our primary commodities move on an average seven or eight times further than those of Germany, so that the final cost of transportation is two or three times greater to us than to our German contemporaries. We have been deluded in the world with our low-ton-mile rate, which is low largely because of our magnificent distances, for it is not so much the actual movement of cars under way as the delay and handling at terminals that makes up the expense of freightage."

No Prejudice Against Railways.
"Yet in this dealing with the transportation problem ourselves, we have formed no prejudice against the railways—indeed our appreciation of these splendid agencies, which opened the country to settlement and enabled us to reduce the cost of living. At the risk of some repetition, I emphasize the lessons of our history. For knowledge of facts and figures we must depend on ourselves until adequate Federal agencies are provided. For meeting business interests and needs we must depend on our own knowledge and judgment, and must make these known to and through our duly elected representatives. For success in securing needed legislation we must depend on our own energy and business sagacity, and the vigor of our demands."

"We citizens and business men of this great and growing interior, and we alone, can determine our commercial needs; and we are no longer to be put off with puerile sentiment and the fog of opinion that a little waterway will be big enough for us! We are the most intelligent and powerful people of any valley in the world, some sixty million strong; we know what we need; we borrow no standards from little rivers, narrow valleys and effete states; we must have the biggest and best waterway in the world—and that without needless delay.

During its first year this association awakened thinking citizens to the realization that river regulation is rate regulation; another early slogan was 14 feet through the valley and dig 'er deep through Dixie; a year ago we began to understand that river regulation is price regulation; now we question whether a 14-foot channel is deep enough—for we realize, and are bound to make the country realize, that the tigger the boat the lower the rate."

TWO TOY BALLOONS
TRAVEL 350 MILES

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 12.—Two toy balloons released here last Thursday, just before the start of the international balloon race, drifted 350 miles, and were picked up on the farm of John R. Behrendt, one mile east of Harmon, Ill.

Arthur H. Seddon and Hyden J. Eaton, local attorneys, sent up the little rubber airships from the grandstand, when awaiting the start of the big balloons. To the toy balloons they attached their cards, with requests that the finder mail them to Kansas City.

The cards have come back, enclosed in a letter from Behrendt, telling of finding the balloons near his home.

KIDNAPERS, 2 MEN AND A WOMAN, CONVICTED

Nicolosi Brothers Get Life Terms, Wife of One 7 Years, in Case of Marino Boy.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Giuseppe Nicolosi and his brother Carmelo were sentenced to life imprisonment after they had been found guilty by a jury of kidnaping 5-year-old Angelo Marino, Aug. 5. Mrs. Colagera Nicolosi, wife of Carmelo, was sentenced to seven years in prison for complicity and her mother, Mrs. Biagia Cutrona, was acquitted.

The Marino boy was kidnaped Aug. 5 and released five days after a $500 ransom had been paid. In the trial Antonio Marino, father of the lad, told of a plot whereby the Nicolosi brothers in 1910 had tried to swindle him by a blackmailing scheme. The Nicolosi were neighbors of the Marino family and had known the boy since his birth. Leoluca Macalusa and Colagera Costantino also were indicted, charged with the kidnaping, but have not been captured.

225 of the Smartest Fall Suits Have Come to Sell at $39.75

"It is just because I want your concern to consider me first next year, that I have made you such a ridiculous price on these Suits"—so said the New York maker of these Suits when discussing the purchase with our garment chief.

We can easily see that he had something more in mind than a single sale, for no Suits of such individuality and character, displaying the wonderfully clever tailoring which these do, could possibly be produced to sell at such a price.

There are more than twenty-five effective styles from which to choose—reproductions of models from such style-originators as Bernard, Francis, Braunstein, Beer and others.

One of broadcloth, with braid motif fastenings, and large collar and revers—in purple, brown, tan, navy blue and black.

Another of mannish striped worsteds, with deep cuffs and fancy revers and velvet collar.

A third of cheviot and a fourth of Scotch tweed, double-faced; another of hard-finished serge, two of striped novelty weaves, of velvet and of corduroy.

And every one so smart and new that the problem will be which of all to choose.

—Friday, in this Special Selling at $39.75

And when alterations are required, remember, they are made by the Stix, Baer & Fuller experts—preserving the original lines of the garment in a way to make the result what is expected.

Other exceptional tailored Suits at $19.75 and $24.75, and at other prices up to $125.

PRICE OF LORIMER

VOTE THE HEAD OF A POSTMASTER

Former Senator Shephard of Jerseyville Tells Committee of Deal With Candidate.

INCIDENT IN BATHROOM

Says Wilson Called Him Aside at Southern Hotel to Ask About a Certain Lady.

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Former State Representative Henry L. Shephard of Jerseyville, Ill., underwent a two hours' grilling by members of the Lorimer investigating committee of the United States Senate today without changing the testimony which previously he had given regarding the case.

Senators Lea and Kern, aided by Attorney Marble, led the examination of Shephard. The committee inquired into every phase of Shephard's alleged relation to the case and had not finished when recess was taken.

Shephard testified that Lee O'Neill Browne first asked him to vote for Lorimer. The witness said:

"I told Browne that I would vote for Mr. Lorimer on but one consideration. I told him that I would do so if a certain editor in my town could be refused further appointment as Postmaster."

Shephard related much of the testimony that previously he had given. He said that on the day of Lorimer's election George W. Alschuler of Aurora also asked him to vote for Lorimer.

Lorimer Gave Promise. "I then went to Lorimer who was in the Speaker's room in the State Hall of Representatives and told him about the Jerseyville situation and about this editor postmaster who had been attacking me and my family for a period of nine or ten years. Mr. Lorimer said the matter of the postmastership could be arranged. Then I agreed to vote for Mr. Lorimer and went out on the floor of the House and did so."

While being examined by Attorney Marble, counsel for the committee, Shephard said:

"Mr. Lorimer promised me what I desired in these words: 'I will certainly have my share of patronage and I think I can prevent the appointment of this editor as postmaster. I will make the effort to do so.'"

Shephard said, however, when questioned by Senator Fletcher of the committee, that the editor, Richards, was still postmaster at Jerseyville and that Lorimer had failed so far to carry out the pact on which Shephard said he cast his vote for the Chicago Senator.

The witness then related various meetings with Lee O'Neill Browne in Chicago and St. Louis and under further questioning, told of the meeting of Browne, White, Link, Luke, Beckmeyer and other legislators at the Southern hotel in St. Louis, June 21, 1909, following adjournment of the Legislature which elected Lorimer.

"In July I also met Representative Robert E. Wilson of Chicago, Browne and others in St. Louis," said Shephard. Senator Lea of the committee took up the examination of Shephard in regard to the meeting of Shephard and Robert Wilson at the Southern Hotel, in St. Louis, July 15, 1909, and at which time the so-called "bathroom" episode occurred.

Wilson Asked About a Lady. Witness said he went into the bathroom with Wilson because Wilson wanted to ask regarding a lady with whom he saw witness at lunch that day, and did not want others to hear the conversation. Witness said he thought Browne, Luke, White, Link, Beckmeyer and Clark were in the room. Witness said he had received a message from Browne to come, but did not know about the others.

Shephard testified that he was not certain that others in Wilson's room were called into the bathroom by Wilson.

Edward Hines, Chicago lumberman, was called before an executive meeting of the committee this morning. Members of the committee examined Hines in private for a half hour, while other witnesses waited for the formal opening of the hearing.

COAT FOUND BEFORE LOSS IS REPORTED

Stylish Garment on a Negro Attracts Attention of Two Detectives.

An expensive brown coat of the latest cut, worn by a negro whose other garments, cheap and shabby, presented a striking contrast, drew the attention of Detectives Finnan and Chalmers at Fourth and Poplar streets.

"A friend of mine gave me that coat," said the negro to the detectives. He said he was Joseph Beasley, 19 years old, of 9 South Twenty-first street.

The detectives then searched the pockets of the coat, and finding papers bearing the name Charles S. Gilbert, took the negro to police headquarters.

An hour later Charles S. Gilbert, a contractor who has an office at 312 Lombard street, notified the police that his brown coat had been stolen from a rack near his desk during his absence. He called at police headquarters and identified the garment worn by Beasley. The negro is held on a charge of larceny.

MORE INDICTMENTS ARE EXPECTED IN McNAMARA CASE

Prosecution Has Long Conference With McManigal, Who Is a Confessed Dynamiter.

BURNS IS STILL AT WORK

Trial Adjourns Over Holiday—Possible Jurors Are Kept in Jail With Accused.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 12.—A judgment of the McNamara trial over Columbus day afforded no holiday for either prosecution or defense.

Ottie McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, was brought this morning from the jail to District Attorney Frederick's office and closeted there for hours with the Burns detectives. The prosecution of late has developed an extraordinary reticence, and would discuss nothing of the purpose of this conference.

It is known, however, that the investigation of the dynamite outrages all over the country is continuing and will be prosecuted by the Burns forces up to the last day for presenting testimony.

It is almost a certainty that indictments of other alleged conspirators will be sought before the first McNamara case reaches the testimony stage. Two and possibly three prominent labor leaders, said to be involved as deeply as John J. McNamara, are the men against whom indictments are likely to be returned. A striking feature of this case is the distrust with which prosecution and defense regard each other's every act and word.

Each Side Suspects the Other. Starting with the charges of kidnapping the McNamara from Indiana and the allegations that the Burns evidence was a "frame up," the lawyers on either side have suspected the other side of jockeying at every turn. One point now troubling them both is the whereabouts of "Dave" Caplan and "Cockey" Schmidt, the partners of James Brice, alleged to be James B. McNamara, in the purchase of dynamite for the Times explosion.

The defense has been assured several times by the prosecution that Caplan is dead. McNamara's lawyers say they do not know whether to believe this statement or to take it as an effort to learn what the defense knows about the subject.

The detectives claim to know nothing about Caplan because he disappeared in British Columbia. They have watched his house in San Francisco and "run out" every person communicating with his wife, but all to no avail, they say. The man who is accused of blowing up a year ago stayed in his cell. In the county jail today besides James B. McNamara and his brother, John J., indicted likewise with him and awaiting a separate trial, were the 12 venturers who temporarily were drafted into the jury box for preliminary examination when court adjourned yesterday.

Capital and Labor Opinions. Though it had been expected that this process would constitute a perfunctory and monotonous chapter in the trial, likely to drag through many weeks, the situation as a result of yesterday's hearing of the initial veniremen has changed somewhat. It is now believed that many a passage at arms will ensue between counsel over the question of competency of talesmen who have formed opinions concerning warfare between capital and labor.

Attorneys for the defense today declared they would continue their action of yesterday in seeking to determine the state of mind of every possible juror as to trade unionism, because they expected the State to allege labor warfare as a motive for the explosion. The prosecution in turn will follow its tactics of yesterday in objecting to this phase of the examination, holding that it is "not relevant at this time to the main issue, that of an individual, not a labor union, on trial."

The first day accomplished little of importance, but much of absorbing interest, for it rang up the curtain, revealed the stage with scarcely more than an intimation of its ultimate setting, and brought before the public's critical gaze the central figures in a drama of life and death, play of human passions and complexities.

Still on the face of the day's events entirely routine in themselves little or none of the portentous issue was apparent. John Joseph McNamara, international labor leader, and James Harbarnas McNamara, itinerant printer, simply were called to the bar, their lawyers elected separate trials and the people of California elected to prosecute James B. McNamara first.

John J., the central figure, the alleged brains of the alleged conspiracy to terrorize capitalists, enemies of the Structural Iron Workers' Union was led back to his cell. James B. thereafter sat alone through the questioning of the first venireman. The examination of this first talesman was not completed when court adjourned over today's holiday until Friday.

J. J. Remains Center of Interest. In the seclusion of his cell, however, J. J., or "Joe," as the structural iron workers' leader is known to his familiars, will continue to be the central figure, his acts and his personality will loom larger than his brother at every stage of the trial, for the prosecution will never lose sight of its contention that "Jim" the alleged weakling test of a gigantic conspiracy, was merely executing his brother's orders in setting the dynamite bomb which a grand jury held responsible for the Times building destruction.

While the preliminaries of jury selection were going on the Post-Dispatch correspondent heard John J. McNamar's defense of his brother. It was a strong, loyal, brotherly appreciation. Incidentally it was the first time either of the McNamaras has received a reporter upstairs at his cell or granted any actual interview since his arrest. The talk lasted two hours, but necessarily could not touch upon any phases of the criminal proceeding.

"My brother is not a weakling," said just a boy, one of the kind who would like still to get out and roll on the grass and go swimming. He is really a lovable character. The men who know him best will subscribe to that," said the accused labor leader, when a note from Clarence Darrow reached him, permitting Darrow's client to talk all he liked about anything not pertaining to the defense.

"What is there, after all, in so-called facial characteristics? I wish that the public would not judge my brother by what is being written about the shape of his mouth or the color of his eyes. A man who bears all the supposed marks of a criminal is sometimes an upright and honored citizen, and the man who looks the honest part is the real crook. J. B. is just one of millions like him who have come up without great responsibility, or great opportunity. They talk about prison pallor. J. B. never did have much color in his face. Working in print shops, poorly ventilated as so many of them are, has kept the color out of him, and six months, almost, in this jail has not improved his condition. They used to let us walk from our steel tank to the front corridor and stand in the sunshine, but a month or so ago they deprived us even of the sunshine. We could not even keep in the tank the potted fern or the flowers that friends sent to us. Still J. B. is as tough as nails. Perhaps he does not look it, but he is in the best health he ever was."

Silk and Messaline Petticoats

There's enough of these wonderfully cheap Silk and Messaline Petticoats left from our big sale to run through Friday. The Messaline Skirt, with its pretty 12-inch accordion pleated flounce, which permits of no thickness at all about the feet, in black, white and Autumn shades, seemed to meet with the biggest favor. However, the Chiffon Taffeta Skirt, with its tailored flounce and underlay, in all the shades worn this year, was usually preferred by the more conservative woman, who objects to extreme styles. Splendid Skirts they are at $4.00 each. Our special price tomorrow is only $1.85.

A Half-Price Sale of the Splendid "Royal Steel" Enameled Steelware

One of the finest grades made by the National Enameling and Stamping Co. How many, many women have bought enamel ware because it was cheap and have then found flaws in the enamel—or the handles came off—all too soon, even for the price she paid. What a difference in buying this "Royal Steel" quality, where every piece is heavily coated with hard enamel, inside and out. Enamelled over steel, where the others are over thin sheet iron. These are all first quality goods, too—no "seconds." Measurements as here given are factory measurements and will run slightly short.

CHICAGO TO ST. LOUIS GRAIN RATE ADVANCED

Chicago and Eastern Illinois Road Is to Charge Same as Other Lines.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Announcement has been made through the Chicago Board of Trade that after Nov. 1 next the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad will cancel a rate of 7 cents a 100 pounds from Chicago to St. Louis and East St. Louis on grain products, carload.

The 7-cent rate was effective Aug. 15, to apply on grain products milled or mated from grain originating at points in Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and North and South Dakota. Beginning Nov. 1, the rates on grain products from Chicago to St. Louis via the Chicago & Eastern Illinois will be the same as on other lines, 7½ cents on malt and 8 cents per 100 pounds on other grain products.

HELEN JENKINS SUES ALLEN FOR $197,000

That Is Amount of Her Property Which She Alleges Millionaire Converted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Papers have been served on Nathan Allen, founder of the Leather Trust, in a suit for conversion brought by Helen Jenkins, with whom Allen toured Europe in the name of J. W. Jenkins in 1909 and upon whom he showered a fortune in jewels, about $200,000 worth of which were smuggled into this port on their return.

Mrs. Jenkins is suing her erstwhile wealthy admirer for the recovery of stocks and notes taken from a safe deposit box in the Illinois Trust Co. some time after she and Allen separated in the fall of 1909. Her bill of complaint also calls for the restitution of paintings, jewels and other property.

The total demand on Allen for property she alleges he converted is $197,000.

SUFFRAGISTS IN CALIFORNIA SAY VICTORY IS WON

Lead Against Amendment Is Cut to 354. With 600 Precincts Unreported.

By Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—If the present ratio of gain is kept up the suffrage amendment to the constitution will be shown to have carried at Tuesday's election by a safe majority.

A bare majority is sufficient to make the amendment to the constitution, according to State officials. It had been believed in many quarters that a two-thirds vote was necessary.

Belated returns this morning from 63 precincts reduced the majority against suffrage to 351.

The returns received this morning are from outlying precincts which have invariably shown a majority in favor of granting suffrage to women.

So far 250 out of 310 precincts have been heard from. As a majority of the precincts yet to be heard from are small, it is hardly expected that this ratio will be kept up. But advocates of the suffrage movement are now confident that their battle was won by a majority of from 200 to 300.

The three morning papers here say today that the proposed amendment has a good chance to carry and that a "novelty" dinner dance Nov. 2 in the Rose Room at the Buckingham. The dinner will be at 7:30 o'clock, followed by dancing at 9.

SOCIETY

THE St. Louis Rotary Club will give a "novelty" dinner dance Nov. 2 in the Rose Room at the Buckingham. The dinner will be at 7:30 o'clock, followed by dancing at 9.

Miss Isabel Russell returned last Monday from a three months' visit to Montana. Miss Russell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Bent Russell of 359 Washington boulevard, and one of the debutantes of the winter.

Mesdames George Gellhorn, William Shahan and Philip Tauke will serve at the tea the College Club of St. Louis will give on the lawn at the residence of Mrs. William Trelease, Shaw's Garden, Saturday, Oct. 14, from 3 to 5 p. m. Mrs. James Wallace, assisted by Miss Alice Martin, Miss Dorothea Marsh and Miss Bertha Bates, will give a pastoral dance at 4 o'clock.

Miss Catherine White entertained the P. & M. K. Club at her home, 729 Baugh avenue, East St. Louis, Tuesday evening, in honor of the Misses Florence and Frances Gibbons of Edina, Mo. Those present were: Misses Florence and Frances Gibbons, Loretto Kerns, Nana Nagle, Frances Dowling, Josephine Drummond, Kate Nagle, and Messrs. Lawrence Gibson, Richard Mealer, Tom Canty, Roy Dowling, Ralph Dietrich, Perry Kilday, Marty Walsh, Floyd Allen.

Among the passengers who sailed Tuesday on the President Grant were: Mrs. B. T. Deatridge and the Misses Dorothy, Sallie and Margaret Deatridge of St. Louis, who will spend the winter abroad.

The marriage of Miss Adele Quinette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Quinette of 4460 Morgan street, and James Orson Phelps of Chicago took place Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride, the Rev. James W. Lee of St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church officiating.

The guests were limited to the nearest relatives and friends, who were asked for the ceremony and reception.

The bride entered the drawing room with her father, who gave her in marriage.

She wore an exquisite gown of white meteor crepe, embroidered with tiny pearls. It was made on simple lines, with a train that fell from the shoulders and folded back where it touched the floor with little clusters of orange blossoms. The high-waisted bodice was trimmed with rose point lace and sprays of orange blossoms.

Her veil was of tulle, one part of which was trimmed with medallions of point lace, where it fitted her head and was arranged into a quaint little cap edged about the face with the lace and held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and bride's roses, fringed with lilies of the valley.

Miss Mary Homer, maid of honor, wore a gown of pink chiffon, embroidered with small gold flowers with small crystal drops. She carried a great loose bunch of Killarney roses.

The bride and maid of honor were preceded down the stairs and into the room by little Miss Dorothy Shaw, the bride's niece, who wore a frock of white lace over pink and carried a long-handled basket trimmed with ferns and filled with pink rose petals with which she strewn the bride's path to a bower of roses and palms where the bridegroom and his best man, Edward Hamilton of Chicago, awaited her and where the marriage service was read.

After the reception which followed, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps departed for the East to spend their honeymoon and will return to Chicago, where they will be at home after Dec. 1, at 22 Lawrence avenue.

The bride was graduated from Homer Hall a year ago and spent the following summer traveling abroad.

Among the presents which the bride received is a patch work quilt, each square made and embroidered by the members of a Sunday school class.

She is third bride this autumn of the class. Misses Mildred Lammert and Helen Vicory having married earlier in the season, and each was the recipient of one of the quilts.

A number of out-of-town guests were at the wedding, among whom were Mrs. Dwight R. Phelps, the bridegroom's mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vyse, all of Chicago. J. C. Quinette, the bride's uncle, from Fort Hill, Ok., and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Quinette of Lawton, Ok.

Mrs. Ernest Edwards and Miss Louise Edwards have returned from abroad, where they spent the summer.

Mrs. C. Garnier of Washington boulevard has gone to Virginia to visit Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mulliken at Pagebrook, near Berryville.

Mrs. Mulliken was formerly Miss Sal. McFallen of St. Louis.

Mrs. Jacob Mahler's classes in dancing, 611 Washington bl., open Oct. 18.

Mrs. and Mrs. Harry P. Bonities will shortly close their summer home at Baldwin, Mo., and come to the Buckingham for the winter.

Their daughter, Mrs. Katherine Bonities Brown, and her little daughter, will spend the winter with them.

Mrs. John D. Manley, who has just returned from a trip through the East, has as her guests her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mullens of Monterey, Mexico.

Harvard Library Cost Is $2,000,000. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 12.—Plans for a new library building for Harvard University have been favorably reported to the Harvard University corporation by a committee. The probable cost is $2,000,000. It is expected to hold 2,000,000 volumes.

KRUPPS LOSE PATENT SUIT

United States Court Upholds American Co.'s Contention.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—A decision of world-wide importance was made by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here today, when it dismissed four suits brought by the Krupp Company of Germany against the Midvale Steel Co. of Philadelphia to restrain the defendant from alleged infringement on patents for a process of manufacturing armor plate.

The opinion of the court is that the claim in a patent granted Feb. 12, 1895, is "void for lack of patentable novelty," and that a claim in a patent granted on Feb. 6, 1900, is void, as it does not involve invention.

THIEF MAILS TRINKETS

Appeal of Mother of Iroquois Fire Victim Is Answered.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—The public appeal of a mother for the return of several trinkets, revered by her as remembrances of a daughter who perished in the Iroquois fire, was answered by the thief who had stolen them. They were sent back by mail. The mother is Mrs. George J. Kuebler, wife of an attorney. Two little rings and two lockets that had been the means of identifying the torn and mangled body of her little girl after the theater fire, were part of the $250 worth of plunder taken by the robber.

CHINESE TROOPS REVOLT AT HANKOW AND TAKE FORTS

Many Manchus Slain by Rebels and Mutineers—Foreigners Not Molested.

MISSIONARIES ARE SAFE

Cities Near Wu Chang Destroyed by Fire After Resisting Attack.

PEKING, Oct. 12.—Between 5000 and 6000 Chinese troops in Hankow native city are reported to have mutinied this morning and killed from 200 to 300 Manchus. The rebels occupied Sui Ting Fu yesterday.

An imperial edict issued today orders the Minister of War, Gen. Yin-Tohang, to proceed to Hankow with two divisions of Peking troops, about 20,000 of whom probably will be Manchus.

The commander of the Chinese Navy, Admiral Sap Chen Ping, is commanded to assemble a fleet of warships in the Yang-tse-Kiang River and join the land forces in an attack on the rebels now in possession of Wu-Chang, Hankow and Han-Yang. The edict censures the Viceroy at Wu-Chang, who fled before the rebels, but at the same time orders him to return to his post and retrieve his reputation. He is threatened with severe punishment if he fails to recapture Wu-Chang.

It is expected that the revolutionists will dynamite the bridges of the Peking and Hankow Railroad to prevent the early arrival of troops. Extraordinary precautions are being enforced here. Chinese passengers are forbidden to travel on the Peking & Hankow Railroad beyond Chumien Hunan Province in either direction.

A dispatch to the British Legation from Chung King says the rebels of See-Chuen hold the Min River and the country west, and confirms also earlier reports of daily fighting in that vicinity.

By Associated Press. HANKOW, China, Oct. 12.—The revolutionary movement is gaining momentum with every hour. Since noon yesterday it has swept the little city of Hangyang and the native quarter of Hankow. Great numbers of Chinese are joining the movement voluntarily.

The losses in the fighting thus far aggregate several hundred, but practically all the dead are Manchus. The slogan of the movement, which is guided by shrewd and temperate leaders, is evidently "Down with the Manchus."

No Attack on Foreigners. Thus far there has been no indication of any animosity against foreigners on the part of the revolutionists. The capture of Hang-Yang, which is a town of perhaps 100,000, just north of Hankow, has delivered into the hands of the revolutionists the arsenal and the important Hang-Yang iron works. The revolutionists had no trouble in Hang-Yang, overwhelmingly outnumbering the local troops. Gen. Chang Piao escaped and the members of the local Government were dispersed.

The popularity of the revolutionary movement all along the river and in the interior is indicated by apparently authentic reports that several nearby cities have fallen. Where resistance was offered the towns appear to have been put to the torch.

Methodist missionaries in Wu Chang are known to be safe. An expedition is now engaged in gathering up the Americans and rescuing them wherever they are hemmed in by the natives.

Elaborate military precautions have been taken to prevent any further revolutionary uprising in Peking and the palaces are guarded by troops of proved loyalty. Advice received there indicates that three regiments of the army participated in the revolt at Wu Chang.

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 12.—William H. Bracken of Indiana, 40, whose son, William Bracken Jr., was shot to death by Livingston Nichols, surprised persons in the courtroom when he went to Nichols and shook his hand heartily. "I would rather have Bill where he is than where you are," said Bracken to his son's slayer. "I hear you no grudge."

Nichols said he shot Bracken, who was a saloon man and politician when Bracken threatened him and drew a knife. The knife has never been found. Nichols is said to be in an advanced stage of tuberculosis, contracted while in jail awaiting trial.

GOOD ROADS TOURING PARTY AT NEVADA

NEVADA, Mo., Oct. 12.—Members of the second annual good roads motor touring party arrived here ahead of schedule time this evening, completing the third day of a long drive. There are 23 cars and 75 men in the party. Gov. Hadley, President Bush and Barney Oldfield dropped off at Sedalia last night and left for Chicago. The tourists were met at Bates, on the Vernon County line, north of Schell City, today by a pilot car of the Nevada Auto Club and escorted to Nevada.

The party was banqueted at the Hotel Mitchell upon its arrival and later adjourned to the courthouse, where the visitors were welcomed by Mayor Ingram. Good roads speeches were made, followed by a smoker at the Elks' Club.

Crusade Against Saccharine. NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 12.—A State-wide campaign against the use of saccharine as a substitute for sugar by soda-drink manufacturers was started here when 25 soda pop dealers and manufacturers were hailed before the Louisiana State Board of Health.

ONE DOSE RELIEVES INDIGESTION AND ALL OTHER STOMACH DISTRESS.

If you had some Diapiesin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion. Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour rising, no belching, no undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.—ADV.

Technola Piano Price, $450

Or may be bought on terms, $20 down, and $12 per month.

The Technola Piano is the newest production of the Aeolian Company—the largest manufacturers of musical instruments in the world.

As a representative achievement of the makers of the renowned Steinway, Weber and Steck Pianola Pianos, the Aeolian Orchestrated, etc., the Technola exemplifies the same high standards of quality that distinguish these famous instruments.

Only a concern possessing the unlimited resources, and commanding the vast facilities of the Aeolian Company—economic and otherwise—could possibly build so high grade an instrument as the Technola and sell it for so moderate a price.

For over four years the greatest player-piano specialists living, devoted their time and skill to the Technola. Its beautiful musical qualities, the exceptional system of expression control, the superbly strong construction show the result of these efforts.

That is why the unequivocal statement is made:

That there is no player-piano at anywhere near the price of the Technola that even approaches it—

That no player-piano at ANY PRICE (with the exception of the Pianola Piano) surpasses it in musical quality and playing effectiveness.

The Technola has a keyboard like any piano. It is always available for hand playing or for practice. The player feature can be instantly concealed beneath artistic paneling, leaving a handsome upright piano of highly artistic design.

The Technola Piano will be placed in your home on the payment of $20. The sum of $12 monthly is then charged on the balance.

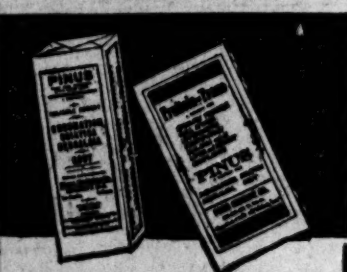

An early visit to Aeolian Hall will be the way to find out about this newest Aeolian production.

NO TRACE YET OF $25,000 LOST AT THE POSTOFFICE

Detectives After More Than a Year Fail to Get Clue to Money.

ROLLINSON TELLS STORY

Postoffice Clerk Explains Youthful Prank That Sent Him to Reform School.

Seventeen days after the first publication, in the Post-Dispatch, of the story of the mysterious theft of $25,000 from the mails in St. Louis, postoffice inspectors said Thursday that there was no new development in the case. The theft, as was told in the Post-Dispatch, occurred Sept. 24, 1910, and is believed by postal officials to have been committed at the Annex Station.

The $25,000 was a registered shipment of currency from the Third National Bank of St. Louis to the Hutchins-Saley Banking Co. of Galveston, Tex. The loss fell on a company which had insured the shipment. The theft was kept secret for a year and a day.

Clerk Was Transferred.

In the report of the postoffice inspectors on the case, it was stated that 23 clerks at the Annex station might have had access to the receptacle in which the package of money was placed. The name of one of these clerks, Charles Rollinson, was mentioned, with the fact that he had served in the Illinois Reform School at Joliet, Ill., in which the postoffice was located. It was learned by inquiry that he had lately obtained a transfer to the Indianapolis Postoffice.

Rollinson was in St. Louis a few days ago, and called at the Postoffice Inspector's office in the Federal building.

Gives Full Record.
To a Post-Dispatch reporter, who visited him at his home in Indianapolis Wednesday, Rollinson made a full statement concerning his record and the circumstances of his appointment to the postal service. He said:

"I could not have had any connection with the theft of the $25,000 from the St. Louis Postoffice, because I was not on duty when the package of money disappeared. My hours were from 7 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. The $25,000 package was received at 3:55 or 4:05, I forget which. It was some time afterward when I first heard of the disappearance of the money. Some of the clerks mentioned having been questioned about it.

"I was never questioned about it because I was not on duty when it disappeared. They looked up my record, I suppose, because they were looking up the records of all the clerks. They did not have to run mine down because it was on file in Washington. I had stated under oath in my application for appointment that I had served a term in the Reform School at Joliet, Ill., when I was a boy. All that they had to do was to look at my application on file there.

"I don't think that mistake of my childhood should be held against me. My mother died when I was a few days old, and my father when I was 12 months old. There was no criminal intent in my part in taking the 32 cents. I was not sent to the Reform School so much to punish me for that as to give me a home. Since that I have worked my way through Normal School at Carbondale, Ill., and have taught school two terms in Jefferson County, Ill., and since I have been working in the Postoffice Department I have been studying law and doing all that any man could do to live down a youthful mistake.

Not an Ex-Convict.
"I am not an ex-convict. The law does not consider a 15-year-old boy who has served a term in the Reform School to be an ex-convict. My prosecution, anyway, was wholly the result of malice on the part of a fellow employee. It was after the Government had decided that my offense was too trivial to deserve punishment that I was prosecuted in the State Court. I was not tried and convicted. I merely told the Judge all about it and he sent me to the Reform School so that I would have a home.

"I had hoped the story of my reform school experience would never come to the surface again, but it seems to follow me everywhere I go.

"The facts of that matter are that I was between 14 and 15 years old, working for my uncle in his store at Texaco, Ill. Although I worked for him, I didn't have a key to the store.

"One night I was driving from one ice-cream social to another in the country with a girl. I drove up back of the store to water the horse and noticed that one window was slightly raised. This led to an outer room of the store. I raised the window and climbed in. I then went on into the postoffice section of the store and took 32 cents postage money from the cash drawer. I wasn't very flush, and I knew my uncle would put the money back into the postoffice when I told him about it the next day. It has been said that I took other articles. That is not true.

"As I climbed back out of the window, two men grabbed me. As soon as they saw who I was they turned me loose. They had been watching the store. One of them did not like me, and the next morning he told my uncle that if he did not report the matter to the postoffice inspectors, he would get into trouble. My uncle put back the 32 cents I had taken, and reported the case. An inspector named Means was sent out to investigate the affair.

"Means after his investigation said that it was only a boyish prank and that the Government would not pay any attention to it. I was not prosecuted by the Government, but when the grand jury met this man, who had caught me, was also an employee of my uncle and had it in for me, went before the grand jury, and I was indicted.

"I made no defense except to tell the story as I tell it now. I was sentenced to serve an indeterminate term in the reform school. I served a little over two years. One year of the time I was a teacher. I was discharged, not paroled.

QUALITY CORNER
ON LOCUST STREET AT SIXTH

If your boy is a real boy, he is tough on clothes. Don't take the boyishness out of him by warning him to be careful. Buy the kind of clothes he ought to have—clothes that are built for "rough house" play but still show every desirable element of style and beauty. How and where can you get such clothes at a reasonable price?

Right here! Ask for the "Campus" suit (worth $7.00) which we retail at $5.75; or if you want a still better quality ask for the "Paul Jones" suit (worth $12.50) which we retail for $10.00. Once your boy has a "Campus" or "Paul Jones" you'd laugh at the idea of buying any other kind! They're simply great! Try one.

Advice to Women

You are advised to take a few doses of Cardui, the woman's tonic, whenever you feel poorly.

It will ease your headache, backache, nervousness, irritability, and other symptoms of womanly trouble.

It will help to build up your bodily strength, steady your nerves, brighten your eyes, and bring the glow of health to your cheeks.

Mrs. Fannie Fitzpatrick, of Paris, Ky., says:

"I suffered for 2 years, with my back, head and limbs. I had the blues so bad, I could hardly live. I had no appetite. I never had any health, after my last child, until I began to take Cardui. All women who suffer from female trouble, should take Cardui.

It is the best medicine on earth, for women."

The sale for Cardui is so large that every druggist keeps a supply.

You will find it in every store you go.

It must be good, or it wouldn't sell so well.

It is convenient to know you can always get it.

Take some today. Why not?

CHESTER, AUTHOR OF WALLINGFORD STORIES, DIVORCED

Wife Gets Interlocutory Decree in New York After Naming a Girl of 21 Years.

HE MAKES NO CONTEST

Denies Specific Allegation, but Names Amount of Alimony He Is Willing to Pay.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Elizabeth M. Chester, wife of George Randolph Chester, famous as the creator of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," has obtained an interlocutory divorce. While it has been known for some time that they were not living together, the facts of the divorce proceedings were shielded by the referee's trial.

In order to keep the case out of open court, the author even stipulated the amount of alimony he was willing to pay without contest. She accepted the offer and until the case went to trial under the provisions of the "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" play that George Cohan dramatized from Chester's stories.

Mrs. Chester will receive $1800 a year alimony and the royalties on the play, "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," dramatized from her husband's stories, besides an allowance of $200 a year for their two sons until they reach the age of 25.

Mrs. Chester named Lillian Deremo, a girl of about 21. She charged that Chester has been living at the Gainsboro studio, 222 West Fifth street, with Miss Deremo, and has introduced her as his wife. Chester denied the allegations.

The Chesters were married in Davenport, Io., in July, 1895, and have two children, who are in the custody of their mother.

The suit of Mrs. Chester for divorce adds another to the long and growing list of literary celebrities who can make their men and women of fiction marry and "live happily ever after," but who have failed to bring such a conclusion to their own romances.

Mrs. Chester's suit follows on the heels of the announcement from Indianapolis that Mrs. Booth Tarkington, wife of the Indiana author and playwright, has separated from her husband and contemplates a suit for divorce.

About a month ago Upton Sinclair announced his intention of suing for divorce because his wife had left him and was friendly with Harry Kemp, the "tramp poet." Mrs. Sinclair has said she would not defend any suit brought by her husband.

Richard Le Gallienne's wife recently obtained a divorce, and it was reported that the poet is to marry again as soon as the interlocutory decree becomes permanent.

Richard Harding Davis and his wife have been separated for four years, and it was announced a year ago that she would go to some Western State and seek a divorce.

Jack London was divorced by his first wife in 1906.

James M. Barry obtained a divorce because his wife was too friendly with Gilbert Cannon, a young dramatic critic.

Mrs. Francis Hodgson Burnett obtained a divorce from Dr. Swan M. Burnett ten or twelve years ago, after being married for almost a score of years.

Amelie Rives, who won almost instant fame with her novel, "The Quick and the Dead," was married to John Armstrong Chanler. She divorced him and married Prince Pierre Troubetzkoy.

DAVID BALL CLUBS ARE ORGANIZED HERE

Charles B. Maurer Works Up Sentiment for Man Who Would Be Missouri Governor.

Political supporters of David A. Ball of Pike County, who is already in the field for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Missouri at the State primaries next year, are organizing clubs in his behalf in St. Louis.

Charles J. Maurer, who has long been one of Ball's political advisors and campaign managers, is at the head of a movement to get voters to pledge themselves to the Pike. He is distributing cards bearing the Ball slogan:

"For the Rule of the People by Virtue of an Honest Ballot."

Beneath the slogan is this pledge: "Approving the candidacy of Dave Ball for Missouri's next Governor, I hereby pledge him my support. Name, Address, Ward, Precinct."

The anti-Ball men throughout the State are trying to induce Attorney-General Elliott W. Major, also of Pike County, to run for Governor. Willard D. Vandiver, Insurance Commissioner under Gov. Folk, is also being groomed for the governorship fight. E. W. Stephens of Columbia is regarded as a receptive candidate.

ST. LOUIS SEEKS HEADQUARTERS OF MACHINISTS' UNION

Main Offices to Be Moved From Washington Either to This City or Indianapolis.

B. M. L. MAKES CAMPAIGN

Association Has Daily Bank Balance of $500,000 and 100,000 members All Over Country.

The Business Men's League is endeavoring to bring the headquarters of the International Association of Machinists from Washington to St. Louis. Removal has been decided on, but the members of the organization have not decided whether to choose St. Louis or Indianapolis as the new headquarters.

That St. Louis is being favorably considered was made known to Secretary Saunders of the Business Men's League in a letter signed by B. F. Lamb and O. A. Wharton, officers in the organization.

The machinists' organization has a daily bank balance of $500,000 and 100,000 members all over the country.

At the international convention of machinists, just finished at Davenport, Io., it was decided to remove headquarters by Jan. 1 next to some city more centrally located than Washington. A process of elimination showed St. Louis and Indianapolis to be the favorites and the new location will be decided by a majority vote of the members at large.

The business men's organization in Indianapolis has offered to pay the expense of removing the offices from Washington to its city.

The organization has a membership in this country of more than 100,000 machinists, and correspondence is continually going out to these members.

The official organ of the association, the Machinist's International Journal, is printed in the city where the headquarters are located, and is sent to all the members monthly. The organization spends $35,000 a year in printing it.

The death benefits paid to families of deceased members has approximated $7,000 annually for the last five years.

The office force of the headquarters includes more than 60 men and women, and the office expenses amount to more than $24,000, while the general expense account averages $24,000. The office will fill one floor in a large office building.

The association is composed of 800 lodges which are included in 74 district organizations, two of which at present have their headquarters in St. Louis. One of these known as District No. 5, which includes the machinists of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain systems, has O. A. Wharton as president, with offices in the Howard Building, 700 Pine street; Ben F. Lamb, manager of District No. 9 has offices in the same building. This latter district includes St. Louis and vicinity.

Morning Etude Opens Season.
The Morning Etude will hold an open meeting on Friday morning, at 10:15, at Aeolian Hall. Friends and those who are interested are invited.

Not from What You Eat, but from What You Digest.

A Tablet Digests a Meal.
And Fills the Free.

Most people eat most foods without discrimination—it matters little what. Few stop to think what that food does for them. This is the first turn on the road to dyspepsia.

Reckless disregard of the proper choice of foods, rapid eating and improper mastication, are the unquestioned causes of all stomach disorders from the slight ache to the malignant cancer.

There is nothing more revolting than a dyspeptic stomach—a very vat for putrefaction, sending forth its poison throughout the entire system, depressing the brain, befouling the breath, souring the taste, deadening the muscles, incapacitating the liver and kidneys for their work, debilitating the heart, choking the lungs and clogging the bowels.

All of these disagreeable and dangerous conditions are due to the improper digestion of food and the consequent assimilation of poison.

What else can be expected? If the food lies in the stomach, if the system is constipated, fermentation is the natural outcome. It shows itself in sour watery risings, belchings, heartburn and painful breathing.

There is only one way to remove this condition. If the stomach refuses to digest your food put something into it that will. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are nothing but digestives. They are not a medicine. They work when the stomach will not.

Each tablet contains enough pepsin, diastase, golden seal and other digestive elements to reduce 3000 grains of ordinary food to the proper consistency for assimilation into the blood.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are absolutely pure. There is nothing harmful in them as shown in their endorsement by 40,000 physicians in the United States and Canada.

Ask your family physician his opinion of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and if he is honest toward you he will state positively that they will cure your stomach trouble whatever it may be, unless you have waited too long and have allowed your disorder to develop into cancer.

Act today and begin to end your suffering. A free trial package will be sent to your address upon request. The 50-cent size packages are for sale at your druggist's. E. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

When Do You Say a Man Is Old?

Readers of the Post-Dispatch Are Going to Settle This Vexed Question and Settle It Right, See Answers Below.

WHEN is a man old? What is your opinion? Helen Rowland raised the question in a clever article which was printed in the Saturday Post-Dispatch. Her conclusion was that he is old when he loses his illusions. Write to her in care of the Post-Dispatch and say what you think. Put it in a sentence if possible, but do not use more than 200 words. Below are a few of the best answers from readers of the Post-Dispatch that have been received. Do you think the true answer is among them? If not, write your opinion to Helen Rowland, care of the Post-Dispatch.

I do not know how others shall determine when old age has claimed 'em—

'Tis not my purpose to deride
Nor yet in scorn defame 'em;

They have their way of love and life
And know what warms their very gizzards—
They know why they would hate to lose
And cease to be 'youth's wizards;

But when from out the throng of joy
I fail to whistle forth a lady,
I'll know that I have lost my zing
And crossed the bar to old age shady.

At the death of love.—Madeline K. Brecht.

When he says: "I can drink or let it alone, as I please."

A man is old when he wants to be.

—Charles A. S.

When women talk sensibly to him.

—W. Elton.

He is oldest at twenty-one.

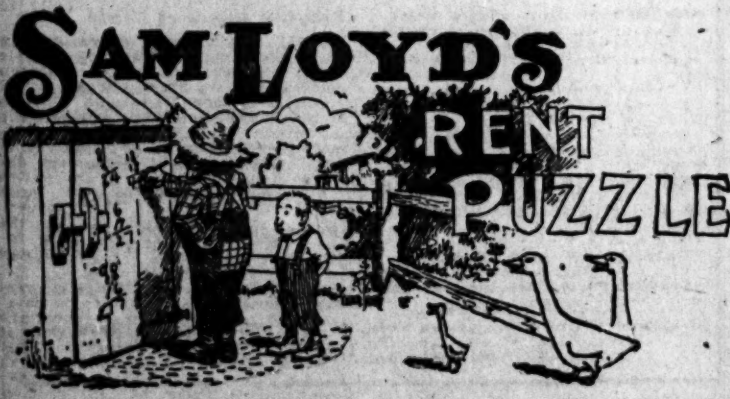

—M. M.

When he can't get a job anywhere.

—D. Namdap.

A man is old when he would rather talk reminiscently of the past than to act in the present or participate the future. "Times are not what they used to be," is a favorite bromide of old age. He is old, not when he has lost his illusions, that is a period of growth, seeing things as they are; but when he returns to the illusions of his youth, begins to think himself a perfect cut-up, imagines all womankind to be as foolishly conscious of him as he is abnormally conscious of them. When he deludes himself into believing he could be a devil with women if only he would let himself go, that the young bucks would have to speed up a bit, once HE got started, then it is you will hear on all sides: "There's no fool like an old fool." He is a real antique when he would rather be cuddled than be rich.

FARMER SYKES was complaining to Ike that he agreed to pay $80 cash and a fixed number of bushels of wheat as the yearly rental for his farm. That, he explained, would amount to just $7 an acre when wheat was worth 75 cents a bushel, but as wheat was now worth $1 a bushel he was paying $8 per acre, which he thought was too much. Can you tell how large the farm was?

Solution to Credit Check Puzzle.

IN that mark-down china sale Mrs. Bargainhunter bought 10 plates at 15 cents each on Saturday and returned them on Monday for 18 saucers at three cents each and eight cups at 12 cents each, making a total of $1.50, as she returned the plates at 15 cents each; but on Saturday she could have bought 13 cups at 10 cents each, so she really lost 22 cents by the exchange.

ABDALLAH; FOUR-LEAVED SHAMROCK

Translated From the French of Eduard Rene Lefebvre-Laboulaye.

PERSONS IN THE STORY.
Hafiz, a crafty Egyptian merchant of great wealth, father of Omar.
Omar, the only son of the rich merchant in Djiddah; foster son of Abdallah, a poor Arab boy, whose only wealth is the piety inculcated by his good mother.
Hafiz, brother of Abdallah and instructor of Abdallah in the Koran and the art of war.
An astrologer, scornfully tells Abdallah that his son will be fortunate and happy when he has found the four-leaved shamrock, deeming it impossible to find this mythical plant. The search becomes the object of Abdallah's and Abdallah's existence.

CHAPTER XII.

The Two Brothers.

THREE things are the delight of the eye, says the proverb—running water, verdure and beauty. Hafiz felt what was lacking in this well-watered and verdant garden. Again and again he repeated to her son that a man should not suffer his father's name to perish, but Abdallah turned a deaf ear to her. He had no thought of marriage; his mind was elsewhere. He looked continually at the tiny copper leaf and continually asked himself by what deed of valor or goodness he could please God and obtain the only boon that he desired. Man's heart has not room for two passions at the same time. One evening, when old Hafiz had visited his sister, and was using all his eloquence to persuade this wild colt to submit to the bride, a gun fired at a distance, announced the arrival of a caravan. Abdallah rose instantly to meet the stranger, leaving Hafiz in despair and poor Hafiz confounded. He soon returned, bringing with him a man still in his youth, but already fat and corpulent. The stranger bowed to Hafiz and Abdallah, gazed at them earnestly, then, fixing his small eyes on the Bedouin, "Is not this the tribe of the Beni Amur?" he asked, "and am I not in the tent of Abdallah?" "It is Abdallah that has the honor of welcoming you," answered the young man; "all that is here belongs to your lordship." "What!" cried the new-comer, "have 10 years' absence so changed me that I am a stranger in this dwelling? Has Abdallah forgotten his brother? Has my mother but one son?" The meeting was a joyful one after so long a separation. Abdallah embraced Omar again and again and Hafiz kissed first one and then the other while Hafiz whispered to himself that man is a wicked animal. To suspect the son of Mansour of ingratitude was a crime committed by the old shepherd. The report finished and the pipes brought, Omar took up the conversation. "How delighted I am to see you, said he, tenderly clasping his brother's hand, and the more so that I come to you a servant." "Speak, brother," said the son of Yusuf. "Having nothing to hope or fear except from God, I know not what service you can render me; but danger often draws near us without our knowledge, and nothing is quicker than the eye of a friend." "It is not danger, but fortune that is in question," returned the son of Mansour. Behold what brought me hither. I come from Taif, whither I had been summoned by the grand sheriff, 'Omar' said he to me, 'I know you to be the richest and most prudent merchant of Djiddah; you are known throughout the desert, where there is not a tribe that does not respect your name, or is not ready, at the sight of your signal, to furnish camels to transport your merchandise, or brave men to defend it. For this reason I have conceived a high esteem for you, and it is to give you a proof of it that I have summoned you hither.' "I bowed respectfully and awaited the pleasure of the sheriff, who stroked his beard and then proceeded to say: 'The Pacha of Egypt,' said he at last, in a hesitating manner—'the Pacha of Egypt, who prizes my friendship as I prize his, has sent me a slave who will be the gem of my harem, and whom, through respect for the hand that chose her, I can receive only as a wife. The Pacha does me an honor which I accept with gratitude, though I am old and my age, having already a wife whom I love, it would have been wise to wish the peace of my household. But this slave has not yet arrived, and it is in readiness for departure—the skins filled, the provisions prepared, the bundles of hay counted and the harness examined. Abdallah chose the surest camels and the most experienced drivers. Nor was this all; he engaged 12 young men, brave companions, of tried courage, who have not been proud of following the son of Yusuf.' His glance commanded respect, his words went to the heart. With sabers always drawn and hand always open, he was the boldest of leaders and the tenderest of friends. Beside him men were as tranquil as the tomb, and his hand was as sure as the night. To clean the guns, try the powder, run the bullets and sharpen the sabers and daggers was work to his taste, a pleasure that he yielded to no one. As soon as the stars began to pale the caravan set out on its way, with Abdallah at the head by the side of Omar, and Hafiz in the rear, watching every thing and holding on to the words of his guide, finding or prize. The caravan waivered slowly in single file, accompanied by their dogs, in the midst of the hand proudly marched a magnificent dromedary, with a slender head, the Oman breed, covered with gold, silver and shining jewels, and brocade, the equipage of the new favorite. The silver-saddled dromedary was followed by gold, of 12 riders mounted on fine horses, glittering in the first beams of the sun. Next came Abdallah's mare, led by a servant. Nothing could be imagined more beautiful than this caravan, the glory of the tribe and the despair and envy of all the Bedouins; she was called Hamama, the Dove, because she was as white as a dove.

in the desert. It is for thee to command, speak and obey." "That is well," said Abdallah; "there is peril to brave and glory to win." "It is for this reason that I have come to thee," resumed the son of Mansour. "With whom should I share this noble enterprise if not with thee, my brother, the bravest of the brave—if not with the wise and prudent Hafiz—if not with the bold comrades? The Bedouins on the road have never seen me—they only know my name, and, besides, instead of defending my caravan, they might plunder it, as they have done more than once, but if thou art there with thy followers, they will think twice before attacking it. To thee, therefore, it belongs to conduct the affair—to thee will revert all the honor thereof. Thou seest that I speak with perfect frankness. As for me, I am only a merchant. Thou art a man of thought and action. It is said in the desert that a rich and fond of money—a reputation which is a peril rather than an aid; thou, on the contrary, are respected and feared. The name of the son of Yusuf is for me, I am only a merchant. Without thee I can do nothing; with thee I am sure of succeeding in an adventure which my head is at stake. Am I wrong in relying on thee?" "No," said Abdallah; "we are linked by one chain, and I will break it." "We will set out tomorrow, and happen what may, thou shalt find me by thy side. A brother is born for evil days."

CHAPTER XIII.

The Caravan.

THE same evening everything was in readiness for departure—the skins filled, the provisions prepared, the bundles of hay counted and the harness examined. Abdallah chose the surest camels and the most experienced drivers. Nor was this all; he engaged 12 young men, brave companions, of tried courage, who have not been proud of following the son of Yusuf.' His glance commanded respect, his words went to the heart. With sabers always drawn and hand always open, he was the boldest of leaders and the tenderest of friends. Beside him men were as tranquil as the tomb, and his hand was as sure as the night. To clean the guns, try the powder, run the bullets and sharpen the sabers and daggers was work to his taste, a pleasure that he yielded to no one. As soon as the stars began to pale the caravan set out on its way, with Abdallah at the head by the side of Omar, and Hafiz in the rear, watching every thing and holding on to the words of his guide, finding or prize. The caravan waivered slowly in single file, accompanied by their dogs, in the midst of the hand proudly marched a magnificent dromedary, with a slender head, the Oman breed, covered with gold, silver and shining jewels, and brocade, the equipage of the new favorite. The silver-saddled dromedary was followed by gold, of 12 riders mounted on fine horses, glittering in the first beams of the sun. Next came Abdallah's mare, led by a servant. Nothing could be imagined more beautiful than this caravan, the glory of the tribe and the despair and envy of all the Bedouins; she was called Hamama, the Dove, because she was as white as a dove.

Hunger Strike Will Win Votes for the Women

So Says an English Lecturer, Who Crossed Swords With Father Vaughan, the Advocate of the Old-Fashioned Girl. An Interview for the Post-Dispatch By Nixola Greeley-Smith.

"THE Victorian woman, the pretty, clinging creature who looked into every man's eyes and who was an expression which said: 'Oh, how wonderful you are!' and who replied, 'Thanks, awfully!' to the first man who offered her marriage and a home, is in the scrap-heap and not all the powers of light and darkness can resurrect her!"

This is the answer of Harry Phillips, English lecturer and London Alderman, to Father Bernard Vaughan's eulogy of the old-fashioned woman.

Father Vaughan and Mr. Phillips crossed lances for the first time on board the steamer Minnetonka, a few days ago when Mr. Phillips, at the request of the passengers, delivered a lecture on "The New Woman," and the distinguished Jesuit, who has been called "the English Savonarola," presided as chairman and put an end to the meeting after walking from the room after advising Mr. Phillips to throw his lecture into the sea.

"I am very sorry that Father Vaughan thought it necessary to leave the meeting at which he had consented to act as chairman," Mr. Phillips told me. "I believe that mentally, physically and morally men and women are equal, and no marriage can be really happy where the man does not concede this to be a fact. Generally speaking, men do concede it in the case of an individual woman, but they refuse to be just to women as a whole."

"WHETHER from policy or conviction, a man does not often entertain his wife with his views on her inferiority to him. He is satisfied to feel himself superior to all other women."

"But women have got to stand together, just as workmen stand together. The whole woman question would be settled in 24 hours if women realized the power that is in their hands. 'Runners' in England who want to vote should refuse to cook her husband's dinner unless he interested himself in getting the Government to grant her political rights! Suppose every unmarried girl should refuse to become engaged, or perhaps to kiss

Confusion Confounded

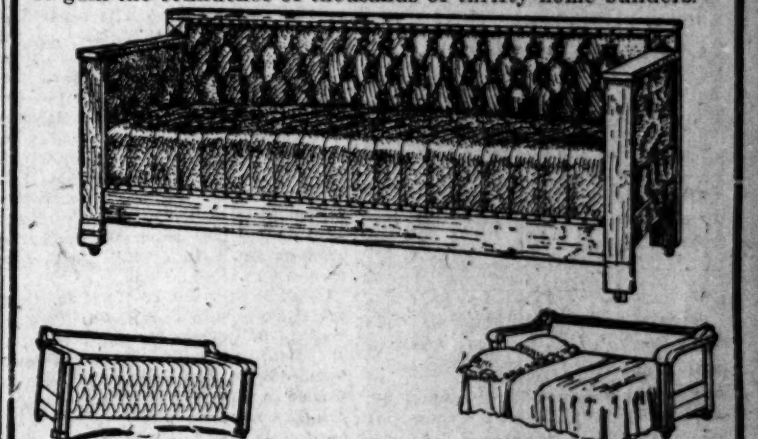

THE confusion of tongues had done its destined part, work on the tower of Babel being pretty much suspended, when all at once a new sound emerged from the racket. The sound of consonants being pronounced without the help of vowels was at once seen to cause no small uneasiness in high quarters.

"No use overdoing the business!" these hastily exclaimed, and forthwith called a halt.

As for Welsh, what was done could not of course be undone; but the ensuing distribution of languages happily relegated it to the remote corner of a remote island of the sea, so that the embarrassment was by no means what it might have been.—Puck.

GIRL OF 17 FOUND BOUND AND GAGGED

Assailant Leaves Note Regretting He Did Not Have Acid to Use.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12.—Edna Hogg, 17 years old, was found bound, gagged and unconscious in a rear yard on Agness street, Cumminsville, early today. The yard is in the center of the district where a series of murders of young girls have taken place during the last four years. It is not believed the girl will recover.

The girl comes from a well-to-do family. A note pinned to her dress said: "Sorry we did not have acid to throw on her, too."

On the reverse side of the note it said: "From the one you did not like." The handwriting was little more than a scrawl and barely legible.

SHOW GIRL WIFE OF AUTHOR DODGE SEEKS A DIVORCE

Haunted Out of Happiness by Miserly Predecessor, Once Mrs. Ethel Coles.

A ROMANTIC MILLIONAIRE

Is Said to Have Shot Self in Syria Over Girl and First Wife Was Circus Rider.

"The American girl—a sexless, bloodless, passionless combination of pickle and bon bon."—Walter Phelps Dodge in a letter to Vanity Fair, a London paper, in 1905, just before he took an English woman for his second wife.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—Mrs. Helen Steck Dodge of this city, third wife of the millionaire New York society man, lounge and author, Walter Phelps Dodge—she who was haunted out of her marital happiness by the "miserly" ghost of her immediate predecessor, has begun an action for divorce. Inasmuch as she is only 20 years old, she applies for divorce through her mother, Mrs. Edward Milton Steck, as guardian, wife of a wealthy coal operator.

Young Mrs. Dodge alleges "cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities," which, she complains, compelled her, on July 25, 1910, to forsake her husband. Her attorney, Maurice B. Lane, speaking for her, said: "This man Dodge, because he married a show girl, seemed to think his wife knew all the vices in the world. He did not take her youth into consideration."

Was in the Chorus. Dodge and his third wife began their matrimonial career in London on Jan. 5, 1910. She had been in the "Hello Chorus" in "Havana." Her sister, too, had been on the stage with the consent of Mrs. Steck, who in January, 1909, publicly said: "My daughters will never make good wives so long as their ambition for the stage possesses them, and we have decided to allow them to pursue their own course in the matter until they either reach the fame they wish or get tired of it." Neither remained on the stage long.

Dodge is the son of the Rev. David Stuart Dodge and a grandson of the first William E. Dodge. He was born in 1889 at Bevin, in Syria, where his father founded the Protestant College. He studied at Yale, but was forced to leave. His first romance was in Syria, where he shot himself, it was said at the time, to gain the affections of a pretty Grecian maiden. The girl's mother "fired" him and he came to America.

Hoax Wedding Notice. In December, 1887, a hoax wedding notice was published stating that Dodge had married his cousin, Miss Lillian May Stokes. Dodge was arrested and confessed to having published the notice.

Dodge's first wife was Ida Nelson Cooke, daughter of an English circus man. She was a bareback rider. The pair eloped to Edinburgh and were married by the High Sheriff. She died. Dodge, in 1906, took for his second wife Mrs. Ethel Coles, two weeks after she had got a Sioux Falls divorce from D. B. Coles of Buckinghamshire, England. She lived only a year or two, leaving a daughter, Rosemary, by her second marriage, and a son by her first. It was the ghost of Mrs. Coles-Dodge, the second wife, that froze the affection that had existed between Dodge and his third wife, according to a public statement in October, 1910, by Mrs. Steck.

The "Miserly" Ghost. "The ghost," it was said, "had got into the habit of appearing before Dodge and demanding her lace dress, her veil, her rope of pearls, her jewels and all the other articles of attire and adornment that Dodge had presented to his third wife. One by one Dodge got back his presents, at the ghost's instigation, it was asserted."

According to Mrs. Steck, Dodge, when he and his bride were abroad, made her "cut" Edith Kelly and her sweetheart, Frank J. Gould, whom the Dodges met in Paris.

It was reported that Dodge's marriage with Miss Steck caused his family to "cut" him.

AUTO KNOCKS MAN DOWN

C. B. Crofford, 55 years old, of 327 Vassar street, Memphis, Tenn., a guest at Oakes Hotel, 1915 Market street, was hit by a taxicab as he was crossing the street in front of 1915 Chestnut street, Thursday morning, and suffered a scalp wound. Thomas Chaudet, the chauffeur, was arrested, but was released when Crofford took the responsibility for the accident.

The taxicab, which belonged to the St. Louis Taxicab Co., was being driven east. Crofford started to run across the street in front of it and then turned back just as it was upon him.

COYOTE IN A RAT TRAP

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 12.—A coyote was caught in a rat trap set in the back yard at the home of E. A. Raymond, on East Eighth street, here. Chickens had been disappearing with great regularity in the neighborhood and a steel trap was set for a big rat, which was supposed to be the culprit. The coyote was not injured and will be given to the local zoo.

ROGER BRESNAHAN may not have to worry further over added strength for the Cardinals' pitching staff in 1912. He seems to already have that asset in this Louie Loudermilk person, Louie not only came through with a first-class, A. N. 1, gill-edge pitching performance against the Browns Wednesday, but has really been showing good form for some weeks.

Louie was picked up early in the present campaign after he had had some trouble in the Three I League. He wasn't ushered in amid the blast of trumpets and the fans didn't concede him much of a chance, chiefly because they learned he was a brother of Grover Loudermilk, who has been drawing pay for parts of the season without accomplishing much for the Cardinals.

But a resanahan thought he saw the makings of a real twirler in the left-hander, and in the last month he has been showing form that would indicate that Roger had the right idea about the southpaw. Only lately has Bresnahan seen fit to permit Louie to start games, and his showing against the Browns Wednesday is just one of several good pieces of pitching that he has displayed.

Browns Get Good Start.
The Browns may not win one of the remaining seven games to be played with the Cardinals, but there is consolation in having played a tie with the National League in the opening show. That's closer to a victory than they came in any of the seven matinees in the springtime.

There are many Cardinal supporters who look for the National League's to have clear sailing from now on, now that Southpaw Hamilton, considered Manager Wallace's best twirler in these games, has been disposed of. At that Hamilton is almost sure to pitch one if not two more of the games before the series is completed.

It will be interesting to note what Petty, Powell and Lake, the three veterans of Manager Wallace's team are able to do against the Cardinals. With the exception of Lake, the vets have had no real pitching work for a month, and whether the rest has been beneficial remains to be seen. Lake's only out was a game against the Tattered Tigers last Sunday.

The Cardinals have the edge over Wallace's team from now on. Manager Bresnahan has Rob Harmon, Bill Steele and Jackie Sheer to fall back on. Their chances of victory over their rivals are conceded better than those of Powell, Petty and Lake, being bracketed over the Cardinals.

The old rivalry between the two teams, however, has tended to put the players of both sides on their toes, and snapper baseball than has been the rule in the last month of the National and American campaigns is sure to be furnished the patrons of the series.

Bresnahan Placed on Billy Sunday's Team of 1911 All-Americans

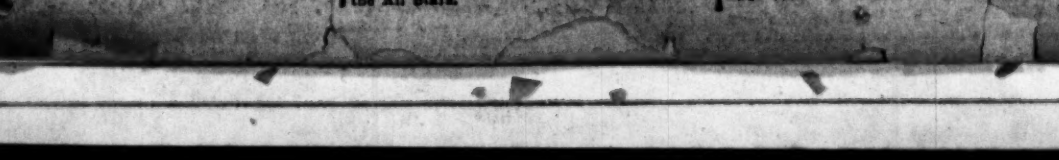

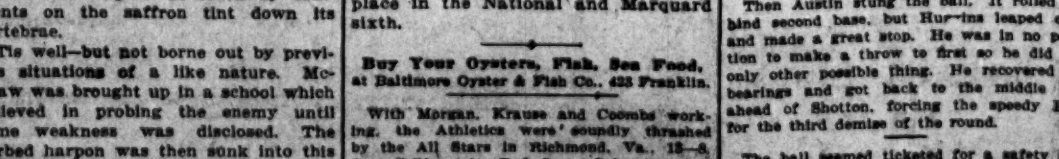

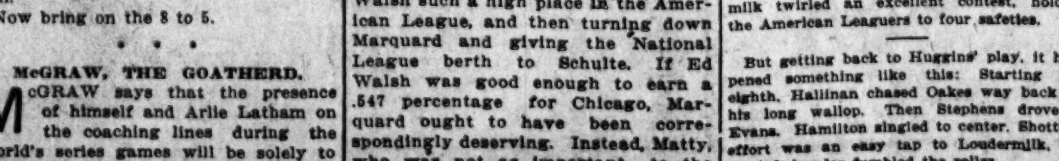

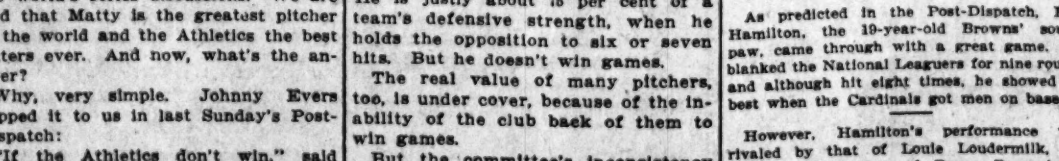

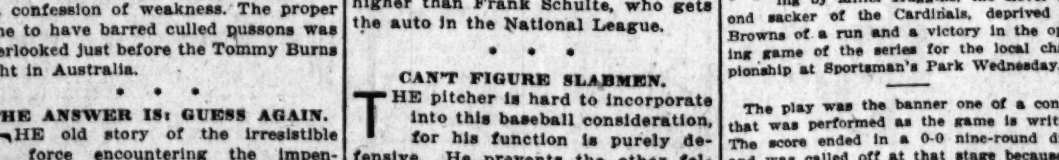

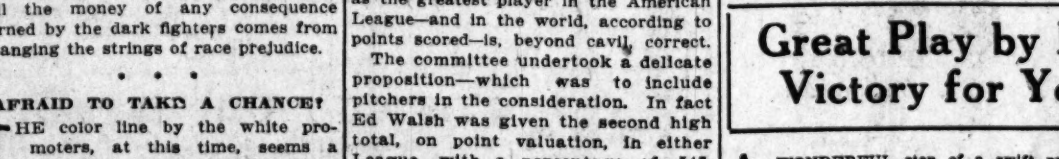

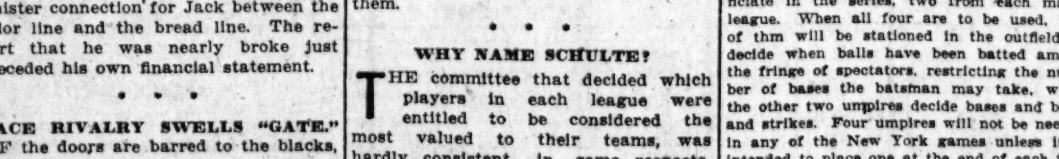

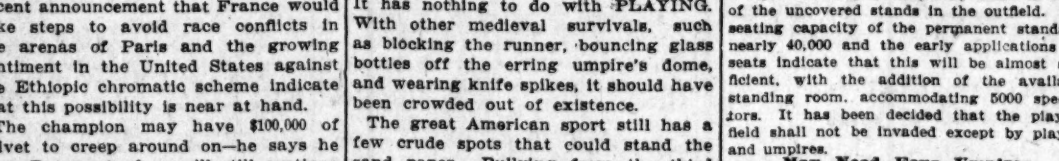

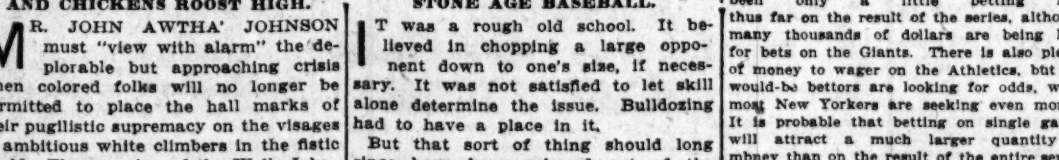

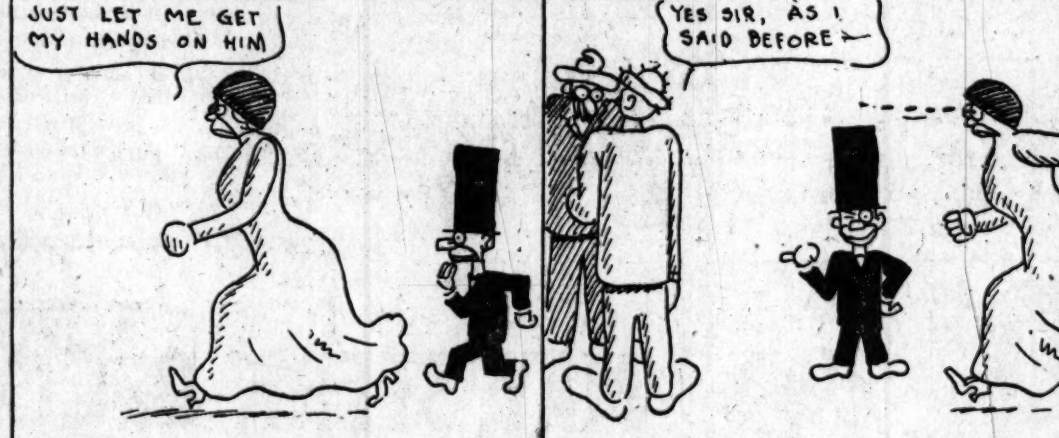

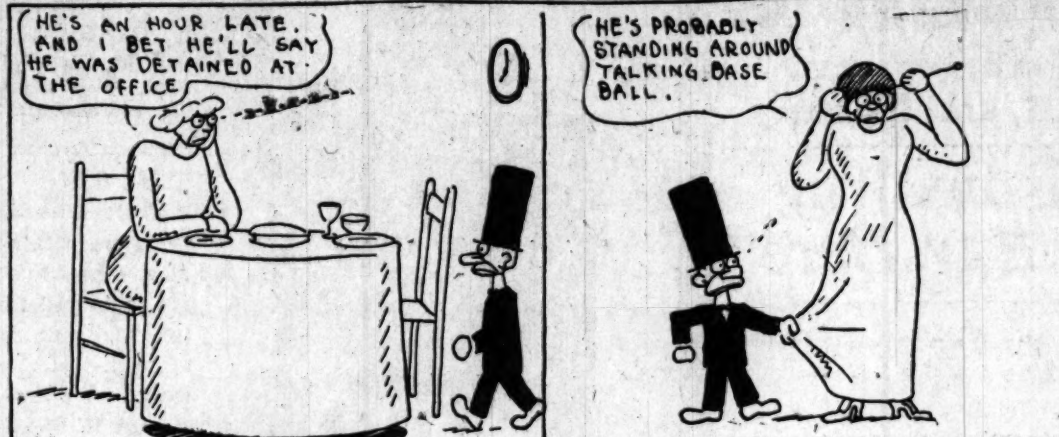

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—"Billy" Sunday, former Chicago National League outfielder, now engaged in evangelist work, has selected for a New York weekly an All-American baseball team. Following are the evangelist's selection:

Pitchers—Johnson, Washington; Rucker, Brooklyn; Ford, New York Americans; Mathewson, New York Nationals; Walsh, Chicago Americans; Greig, Cleveland.
Catchers—Doolin, Philadelphia Nationals; Bresnahan, St. Louis Nationals; Archer, Chicago Nationals.

First base, Chase, New York Americans; second base, Collins, Philadelphia Americans; shortstop, Wagner, Pittsburgh Nationals; third base, Baker, Philadelphia Americans; left field, Cobb, Detroit; left field, Marace, Philadelphia Nationals; center field, Speaker, Boston Americans; utility infield, McNally, Philadelphia Americans; utility outfield, Mian, Washington.

BENDER DEMANDS
FULL PERIODS IN ILLINOIS BATTLE

Good Condition of St. L. U. Men Will Prove Advantage in Saturday's Game.

SHERMAN WILL NOT PLAY

Washington Will Be Minus Services of Regular Quarterback, Who Is Injured.

Although Coach Johnny Bender of the St. Louis University football team has been trying for weeks to get the Illinois University men to agree on the time of quarters for the game Saturday at Champaign, Ill., the Illinois management has been holding him off, and Bender will do his best to have the quarters of regulation 15-minute periods.

Bender says that he never saw a bunch of boys with more determination and "pep" than the St. Louis U. squad. "The fellows have me going 'ow,'" said the coach, "and I honestly think that we should hold Illinois to a small score."

There is not a man on the St. Louis U. squad who is suffering from even a bad bruise, and all of the boys say that if they lose they will have no excuse. Every man is fit for a hard game, and if Illinois is not fit and agrees to 15-minute quarters, there is likely to be something doing in the scoring line near the end of the game, as the wearers of the blue and white are on edge for one hour of fast football.

The officials for the game will be Haynes, Yale; referee, Thomas, Purdue; umpire, Enders, Purdue, field judge.

Sherman Hurt.
Because of the failure of a couple of regulars to show up for practice Wednesday, the Washington squad did not work as smoothly as they might have done, but by Saturday Coach Casey expects all of his men to be back in the game, with the possible exception of Sherman, who has been playing quarterback. Sherman had his hip hurt, but with Falvey, one of last year's star quarters, ready to get into the game, Sherman will not be badly missed.

MISS CAMPBELL WINS GOLF MATCH EASILY

SHORE HILLS, N. J., Oct. 12.—In the fourth day's play in the women's national championship at the Baltusrol Club, today, the contestants were paired as follows:

Miss E. W. Allen, Boston, vs. Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Philadelphia; Miss Kate Harley, Fall River, vs. Miss Lillian B. Hyde, Bayshore; Miss Anita Phipps, Springfield, vs. Miss Dorothy Campbell, Hamilton, G. C.; Miss E. S. Porter, Boston, vs. Miss Margaret Curtis, Boston.

Miss Campbell defeated Miss Phipps, 6 up, 4 to play. Miss Allen beat Mrs. Barlow, 2 up, 4 to play. Miss Porter beat Miss Hyde, 4 up at the turn, won by 1 up on the nineteenth green.

DALY STILL LEADS IN BILLIARD MATCH

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Alfred DeLoe closed up on John Daly, the three-cushion billiard champion, in the second game of their match for the title at Doyle's Billiard Academy last night. DeLoe made 46 points in the 104 innings it took the champion to get his second string of 50.

First Clash of Series

Veteran Pitcher More Likely to Be Reserved for Hostile Grounds, Though Betting Indicates He Will Work Saturday.

By BOZEMAN BULGER.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—On account of the unexpected flood of New York money, and the consequent demand of the Athletics' supporters for odds, there was a decided lull in the betting rings along the Great White Way yesterday, and now the interest has switched to wagers on individual games.

Any amount of money can be placed at odds of 7 to 5 that Mathewson will win any game that he pitches. In fact, the New Yorkers were so anxious yesterday, to bet that Matty would win his opening game, that the odds jumped as high as 8 to 5.

The real betting proposition of the hour, however, is on who will pitch the opening game of the great series for the Giants. Two bets of $50 each were made at Doyle's last night, that Matty would be the New York entry in the first game, and another of $100 even money was posted at Daly's.

While betting never has any real influence on questions at issue, this sudden switch of interest to the first pitcher for the Giants has opened a new line of thought and one that will have the fans guessing until McGraw gives his batting order to the umpire on the Saturday afternoon before the game.

Chance for Marquard.
There is no doubt that McGraw will give the first game to Mathewson if the conditions are right, as he would like to get over that first punch and have the Athletics on the run. It is not altogether certain that Matty will get the assignment, though, as there are many reasons why it would be advantageous to start Marquard.

If the day is dark and cloudy you can bet your bottom dollar that the first game will be pitched by Marquard, and there still is a chance the same day for a background, he would have things his own way. Marquard's fast ball carries an upward jump that has the best of the batters guessing. Joe Tinker very aptly described this ball when he said: "How is a man going to hit a thing that he cannot see?"

Mike Donlin is another who believes that Marquard is the greatest fast ball in the world. Mike is of the opinion that Marquard will win every game he pitches against the Athletics if he is at all in condition. It is, therefore, reasonable to assume that if the day is dark Marquard will get the opening assignment, and the chances are very much in favor of his winning. Chief Bender of the Athletics would probably be pitted against him in that event, for the win Indian twirler also has a terrific burst of speed and the Giants would be in almost as bad a hole as the Athletics against Marquard.

Marquard Just a Kid.
Though the chances favor Mathewson for the pitcher, if the day is clear and bright there are reasons why McGraw would strongly favor the pitching of Marquard under any condition. The Giants' manager would give much to have Matty open against the Athletics in Philadelphia. He would like to see the pitcher who has been so reliable before a hostile crowd than a young fellow who is fighting for his life the first time.

In 1907 the series opened in Philadelphia, and Mathewson did the pitching for New York. He won with ease, shutting out the Athletics by a one-sided score. It fell to McGraw to win the first game at the Polo Grounds, and he lost. Matty then pitched again in Philadelphia and won. He did the same in the New York championship class, Wednesday. In the other championship division matches Mrs. Claude West defeated Fred Plank, 3 up and 1 to play; Miss Nellie White won from Mrs. Claude Kennedy, 3 up and 2 to play, and Mrs. A. G. Edwards defeated Mrs. E. C. Williams, 4 up.

Mrs. Arthur Perry and Mrs. F. B. Newberry will play the final match of class A as a result of Mrs. Perry's victory over Miss Clarke, Thursday.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS PLAY MARATHON TENNIS BOUT

One of the hardest tennis matches witnessed on a local court in a long time resulted when Friede and Van Harten of Soldan High School opposed Gamble and Lide of Central High, in the inter-school doubles on the Triple A Courts in Forest Park, Wednesday afternoon.

The first set was won by the Soldan boys, 15-13. The players were tired and, as it was getting dark, it was agreed to postpone finishing the match until Thursday afternoon, after the second set had gone to deuce, 5-4.

Soldan is at present leading the league with a record of three single matches won. The tournament is scheduled to end Friday.

The results: Sullivan (Soldan) defeated James (Central), 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.
Sullivan (Soldan) defeated Thomas (Central), 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.
McKinley (Soldan) defeated Peters (Central), 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

CIVIL WAR.
Oh, the Turks and Italians had a scrap Regarding some land on the African map; But the Cardinals and the Browns engaged in a fray That made it resemble a game of croquet.

With confident bearing and manner serene Their uniforms shining, all nobby and clean. Like his namesake of old, Little Roderick Dhu Replied to the Duke: "I'll be d-d if I do!

Yon structure of concrete and metal hard By Shall totter and tumble far sooner than I.

"I am there like a duck, and I'd have you to know. Though I'm but a tail-end you're not the whole show.

I'm a tough proposition to tackle, when right. And you'll soon be aware that you've been in a fight!"

"Oh, no!" said the Duke. "We shall see about that. In a minute or two you won't know where you're at.

For I've had quite enough of your impudent ways. And I'd have you to know that you're not in my class!"

Then the two gallant foes at the sound of the song Cut loose at each other with hammer and tong.

And the final result of this terrible war Was nothing to nothing in favor of us.

Tips and Cues

Annun will oppose Peterson in the ball-toss tournament game at Peterson's Thursday. Peterson won from Doolin Wednesday, 159 to 29, and Louisa, 49 to 44.

Vornbrock and Paffrath will furnish the business men's straight rail tournament game at the Grand Thursday. Holland and Benig will meet in the three-cushion billiard game at the same hall. Herbert defeated Hetherick at three cushions, 29 to 27, and Nelson won the ball-toss game from Haas, 100 to 59, Wednesday.

Beck and Francis will play in the class B three-cushion billiard game at the Rex Thursday. Evans defeated Mountain, 46 to 22, Wednesday.

AMERICAN GOLFERS BEAT PROFESSIONALS

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Warren K. Wood of Homewood and "Chick" Evans of Edgewater, amateurs, defeated George Duncan of England and James Donaldson of Glenview, professionals, 7 and 6, in a best ball foursome at Homewood yesterday. Evans had the best individual score for the 36 holes by four strokes, registering 144.

The crowd surprised everybody. Fully 5000 fans were in the park and with the Browns getting a good start, the players after all, may split a nest little sum.

The ball seemed tickled for a safety and had it gone to center field, Hamilton, who had been on second, would undoubtedly have scored.

With Morgan, Krause and Combs working the Athletics were soundly thrashed by the All Stars in Washington, Va. Ray Collins, the Red Sox left-hander, and George Mullin of the Tigers performed for the All Stars.

American Financier Arrives in London Pale and Weak, and With Tottering Step.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—William Rockefeller, who was a passenger on the Mauretania, and came here from Liverpool by train, is very ill and in the care of a physician.

The report on the ship was that Rockefeller is suffering from palsy and has been compelled to give up his business and intends going to a cure on the Continent.

Rockefeller's steward told passengers that he believed, from overhearing remarks of a physician, that the real ailment is cancer. Rockefeller appeared very pale and weak. He walked with

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—At the Standard Oil offices it is denied that William Rockefeller is ill. The above statement was found a few feet from the sidewalk.

The twenty-fourth annual State Christian Endeavor convention, which is to open next week in Columbia, will be attended by a large delegation of young people from the various local societies.

LEAD OF INSANITY HELD TO PROVE FITZGERALD SANE

Jardian Denied Rich Plumber
Who Says Mind Was Unsound
When He Deeded Property.

CHILDREN BENEFITED

ive Others Allege Undue Influence, and Family Squabble
Is in Two Courts.

On the theory that no one except a sane man would deliberately try to make it appear that he was insane, especially when valuable property was at stake, a jury in the Probate Court Wednesday ignored Thomas Fitzgerald's request that a guardian be appointed to take charge of his affairs and declared him of sound mind.

For more than a year a strange combination of circumstances has made Thomas Fitzgerald's family a house divided against itself. Five of his children are fighting three other children for possession of property which he says is worth $100,000.

The jury's verdict Wednesday leaves Fitzgerald free to dispose of this property as he sees fit, if he can succeed in regaining it from the three children to whom he deeded it.

Must Prove He Was Insane.
In order to do this, Fitzgerald twice within a year deeded same in the Probate Court, must prove in the Circuit Court that he was insane when he signed the deed.

Last November his children, James, Thomas, William and Mamie Fitzgerald and Mrs. Annie Smith, alleging that their father was insane, cited him into the Probate Court to prove his sanity.

Fitzgerald, a retired plumber, 63 years old, was then living with his daughters Catherine and Gertrude at 464 Cook avenue. They and another daughter, Mrs. Robert Eilerman of 217 Salisbury street, contested the sanity proceedings and appeared as witnesses for their father.

The other children testified that they loved their father incapable of looking after his affairs, and feared that he could give away all of his property.

Deeds His Property.
Shortly after he was declared sane Fitzgerald deeded most of his property to Catherine and Gertrude and Mrs. Eilerman.

Last July these three daughters had their father taken to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital. The five other children found him there a month later and had him removed to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Smith, at 870 Garfield avenue, where he now lives.

Gertrude Fitzgerald told a Post-Dispatch reporter Thursday that she and her two sisters had their father taken to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital because they thought it would be a nice place for him to spend the summer. After he was removed to the Smith home, she said, she was not permitted to see him for more than a month.

Asks Transfer Be Set Aside.
A week ago Fitzgerald went into the Circuit Court and asked that the transfer of his property to Catherine, Gertrude and Mrs. Eilerman be set aside. In his petition he alleged that he was under undue influence and not in his right mind when he deeded the property to them.

In the Probate Court Wednesday Fitzgerald, on the witness stand, was asked whether he considered himself capable of managing his affairs.

"Well," he replied, "I would like to have a guardian appointed. I think I am it."

He could not be induced to say that he considered himself sane and sane at times asserted that there was something the matter with his mind that was not right, when he gave away his property.

Daughter Applauds.
Gertrude Fitzgerald, who will have 30 percent of her father's estate in the Circuit Court, clapped her hands when the Probate Court jury returned its verdict, declaring her father sane. She applauded so loudly that a court attendant warned her to keep still.

Gertrude ran to her father and said: "Now, father, stand up, you like to come back and live with me and Catherine."

Fitzgerald hesitatingly glanced from one faction of his children to the other, and replied:

"Yes, I believe I would."

He was hurried from the courtroom under escort of the children who a few minutes before had tried to prove him insane.

Gertrude is Fitzgerald's child by his second wife who died less than a year ago, leaving to Gertrude East St. Louis property valued at $40,000.

The property deeded by Fitzgerald to his three daughters is on Lucas avenue, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets. Catherine has been managing it and collecting the rents.
